DYNAMITE,
NOBEL'S DYNAMITE,
or
SAFETY GIANT BLASTING POWDER.
The most powerful of all explosives for Mining and Quarrying, Blasting in hard or soft, wet or dry Rocks, Construction of Tunnels, Clearing Land of Tree Roots and Boulders, Breaking up Blocks of Metal or Stone, Clearing away Wrecks, Sunken Rocks, &c., and for Torpedoes. Its safety is proved by the absence of accidents in transit or storage. It is insensible to heavy shocks—a percussion detonator being required to develop its giant power.
Its power is far greater than gunpowder. Its advantages are, immense saving of labour with great increase of work, fewer bore-holes, no danger from tamping, safety in use, &c. Pamphlets, prices, and official reports can be had at the office of this paper, at the leading merchants, or from the export office of THE BRITISH DYNAMITE COMPANY (Limited), 85, Gracechurch-street, London, England, to whom applications for district agencies should be made.
In consequence of the difficulties of shipping small quantities, special advantages will accrue to dealers who will be placed upon the most liberal terms.

STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.
CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.
The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Its well-earned extensive sale has induced SPURIOUS IMITATIONS, some of which in OUTWARD APPEARANCE so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.
Purchasers are, therefore, requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—
1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.
2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words John Steedman, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey printed thereon.
3. The name Steedman is always spelt with two EE's.
4. The manufacture is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.
Sold in packets by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors, at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each.

LIVER PILLS FOR INDIA AND THE COLONIES.
Dr. KING'S Dandelion and Quinine Liver Pills (without mercury) are the best remedy for Bile, Wind, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Spasms, Giddiness, Heartburn, Nervousness, Gout, and all disorders of the Stomach and Liver. They combine mildness in operation with the most admirable effects, and as an aperient cannot be surpassed. Manufactured by James Burke, 47, Mortimer-street, London W., and sold all over the world by most chemists, &c., at 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d. Agents, FELTON, GRIMWADE, and CO., Melbourne.

THE FOLLOWING is an EXTRACT FROM A LETTER dated 15th May, 1872, from an old inhabitant of Horningsham, near Warminster, Wilts:—
"I must also beg to say that your Pills are an excellent medicine for me, and I certainly do enjoy good health, sound sleep and a good appetite; this is owing to taking your Pills. I am 78 years old.
"Remaining, Gentlemen, yours very respectfully,
L. S."

ROWLAND'S MACASSAR OIL prevents the hair falling off or turning grey, strengthens weak hair, cleanses it from scurf and dandruff, causes it to grow thickly on bald places, and makes it beautifully soft, pliable, and glossy.
ROWLAND'S KALYDOR removes all freckles, spots, and cutaneous eruptions, and realises a health purity and delicacy of complexion.
ROWLAND'S ODONTO whitens and preserves the teeth, prevents and arrests their decay, strengthens the gums, and gives a pleasing fragrance to the breath.
ROWLAND'S ESSENCE OF TYRE produces immediately a perfect change in red or grey hair, whiskers and eyebrows, to a glossy and permanent brown or black, which colour neither washing or perspiration will remove. GREAT CARE must be taken to ask for Rowland's Articles of 20, Hatton Garden, London, and to see that their signature, A. ROWLAND and SONS, is in RED INK on the wrapper of each, no other being genuine. Sold by all Chemists, Druggists, and at all Stores throughout Australia and New Zealand.

CONSUMPTION, INDIGESTION, and WASTING DISEASES.—The most approved REMEDIES are PANCREATIC EMULSION and PANCREATINE. The Original and Genuine prepared only by

Cures Blood and Skin Diseases
Cures Glandular Swellings
Clears the Blood from all impure matter,
From whatever cause arising.
As this Mixture is pleasant to the taste and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of either sex.

THOUSANDS OF TESTIMONIALS FROM ALL PARTS.
MIRACULOUS CURE OF ULCERATED SORES.
"Grimsbury, Banbury, 10th August, 1874.
"Dear Sir,—I beg to tender you my grateful thanks for the benefit I have derived from taking your 'world-famed Blood Mixture.' I had been in several hospitals for my complaints—ulcerated sores—but without deriving any benefit, and had given up all hopes of getting cured. Some weeks ago I bought a small bottle of your 'Blood Mixture,' and since that time I have had six more, the effect of which has been miraculous.
"Yours faithfully,
"CHARLES PESTELL."
"To Mr. Clarke, Lincoln."

WONDERFUL CURE IN A BAD CASE OF BLOOD POISONING.
"7b, Westminster Bridge Road, Lambeth,
"London, S.E., 9th July, 1874
"Sir,—I return my sincere thanks to you for the great benefit I have derived by taking your celebrated 'Blood Mixture,' I will state my complaints to you. I had an injured finger, and unfortunately got it poisoned, then it gradually became worse. My arms, face, and body came out in pimples and blotches, and could scarcely stand on my legs. However, I saw an advertisement from you; I agreed, as a last resource, with my wife, to try your 'Blood Mixture,' and, thank God, the second day I felt relief, and in one week the pimples began to die away; in three weeks I went to work again.
"Yours truly,
"JOHN HENDERSON."
"To Mr. Clarke."

CURE OF SORE LEG.
"Deeping, St. James', Peterborough,
18th April, 1874.
"Mr. Clarke.—Sir,—I have much pleasure in stating that your 'Blood Mixture' and 'Skin Lotion' quite cured me of a fearful bad leg, of upwards of a year's standing; the sore was brought on by a scald, and I never thought it would get better; however, I sent to your agent, Mr. W. Stephen Wilson, chemist, Long Causeway, Peterborough, for the world-famed 'Blood Mixture,' and, after a few weeks, quite recovered. I shall be glad to answer any questions on the subject.
"I am yours gratefully,
"SARAH BAKER."

SKIN DISEASES, eruptions, blotches, spots, pimples, pustules, boils, carbuncles, ringworms, scald heads, sore eyes, erisipelas, itch, scurfs, discolourations of the skin, humours and diseases of the skin of whatever name or nature, are literally carried out of the system in a short time by the use of this world-famed medicine.
IMPORTANT ADVICE TO ALL. — Cleanse the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE is sold in bottles, 2s 6d each; and in cases containing six times the quantity, 11s each—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the great majority of long-standing cases.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated publicly in Court that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—TIMES, July 13, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was Chlorodyne.—See LANCET, December 31, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course, it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—MEDICAL TIMES, January 12, 1866.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the best and most certain remedy in coughs, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is a certain cure in cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, colics, &c.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—Caution.—None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. Davenport, 33, Great Russell-street, Bloomsbury, London. The immense demand enables the proprietor to reduce the price; it is now sold in bottles, 1s 1½d., 2s 9d., 4s 6d., and 11s, containing double quantity hitherto.

POWELL'S BALSAM OF ANISEED, for Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c.—Testimonial from the Rev. W. Lush, Vicar of Stixwold, and Editor of the REMEMBRANCER.
"Stixwold Vicarage, Horncastle, Lincolnshire.
"Dear Sir,—I have to acknowledge with my warmest thanks the receipt of a large bottle of your truly valuable Balsam of Aniseed for the benefit of my poor parishioners. I need hardly say, in the face of winter, how truly acceptable such a present is. For the past twelve years I have been in the habit of using myself, giving away, and recommending your Balsam. I should not be exaggerating if I said I have never known it fail. Whenever I have a cough I use it in preference to anything else, and again and again it has cured me.
"I am fully aware, and you, my dear sir, would, I feel sure, equally with myself, recognise the fact, that we are dependent in the use of all means on Him whose blessing maketh rich, but I rejoice that so often He has seen good to add that blessing to the use of Powell's Balsam of Aniseed.
"I remain, my dear, Sir, &c., &c.
"WILLIAM LUSH."

IMPORTANT TESTIMONIAL.
"Dear Sir,—I may tell you that I have used your Balsam for a very long time (both for myself and my family). I think it an invaluable medicine for members of my profession, and have always strongly recommended it to my brother and sister artists. If you think a testimonial from me would be of any service, you are very welcome to make use of this.

All holders of secured seats or tickets of admission, who were prevented from attending the School of Arts in consequence of the severe storm of last week, can have the same redeemed upon application at the box office.

The SYDNEY MORNING HERALD of May 29 says:—
"SCHOOL OF ARTS.—The 'Royal Marionettes' continue to maintain their popularity, and most deservedly, for there never has in Sydney been produced an entertainment so truly astonishing of its class. It is hard to believe that these wonderful puppets are not endowed with actual life, for there are few performers who can so ably 'suit the word to the action and the action to the word.' The pantomime of 'Little Red Riding Hood' is a marvel in its way, combining as it does all the elements of modern burlesque, smart and lively dialogue, appropriate melodies, quaint 'breakdowns,' and comical effects. There have been few harlequinades in the city that present such original and at the same time conservative humour as does that of the extravaganza in question. A clown, pantaloon, harlequin, and columbine who could perform such feats would assuredly make their fortunes, and yet all is done with a style true to nature."

LAW.

SUPREME COURT.—Friday, June 4.

Sittings for Causes.

Banco Court.

Before Sir James Martin, Chief Justice.

Jagger v. Carr.

On this case being called on, it was stated that, in consequence of the defendant's insolvency, all proceedings in the action were stayed under the 31st section of the Act 5th Victoria, No. 17 (the first Insolvency Act).

All the other cases in the paper were said to be too long to be finished on this the last day of the sittings, and the Court rose at about half-past 10.

Remanets.

The following cases, which have been set down in the Banco Court for hearing at these sittings, stand over till 2nd August:—Dibbs and another v. Brown and another, Christian v. Petrie, Christian v. Welburn, Christian v. Bells, Cohen and others v. Nash, Ryan v. M'Mahon, and Pearce and others v. Oriental Bank.

Jury Court.

Before Mr. Justice Faucett and a jury of four.

Laing and others v. Bain and others.

Mr. M. H. Stephen and Sir George Innes, instructed by Messrs. Want and Johnson, appeared for the plaintiffs; Sir William M. Manning, Q.C., Mr. Windeyer, and Dr. Renwick(?), instructed by Mr. R. B. Smith, for the defendants.

This was an action of ejectment brought to recover possession of 2660 acres of land at Redbank on the Hastings River. The plaintiffs were David Fergus Laing, John Dick Wilson and Jane his wife, Mary Agnes Laing, Janet Langlands, William Watson Langlands, John Langlands, James Langlands, Matthew Langlands, James Robert Stewart, William Watson, and Peter Watson, and the defendants, Duncan Bain, James M'Inheney, Archibald Bain, Matthew Casey, Daniel Hanley, William Roach, James Worrell, Catherine Donahoe, Robert Campbell, Charles Worrell, and Thomas Parsons. The defendants are residing on the land claimed, and the plaintiffs claim as the representatives of the heiresses (three sisters) of the late Lieutenant Matthew Mitchell, who died in the year 1833. He had received a promise of a grant from the Crown in 1831, and that grant issued in the year 1840, the grantees being Margaret Hutchinson, Martha Gordon (sisters of the deceased), and David Fergus Laing, the plaintiff, son of another sister. Mrs. Gordon died without issue. Mrs. Hutchinson devised her share, one moiety to Matthew Langlands, and the other moiety to Jane Wilson, Mary Agnes Laing, and Margaret Laing. The plaintiff John Langlands, claimed as heir-at-law of Matthew Langlands. With the exception of David Fergus Laing, all the other plaintiffs reside in Scotland. Objections were taken by defendant's counsel to the admissibility of certified copies annexed to the evidence taken in Scotland under a commission in the place of the original wills. The pedigree of the claimants and their identity was proved. The defendants then went into a case of possession for the time required by the Statute of Limitations to bar the real owner's right. The evidence was not concluded, and the further hearing of the case will have to stand over till August next.

Remanets.

Osborne v. Roche, Iliffe v. Marchant, Wener and wife v. Jamison, Tooth and another v. Creman, Williams v. Creighton.

DIVORCE COURT.—Friday.

Before his Honor Mr. Justice Hargrave.

Dutton v. Dutton.

Petitioner in this suit, Henry Richard Dutton, grazier, of Sydney, sought dissolution of marriage, on the ground of adultery on the part of his wife, Mary Dutton, formerly Mary Trainer. The co-respondent named in the petition was Thomas Robinson, who died before the present proceedings commenced.

Mr. C. J. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Holdsworth and Brown, appeared for petitioner. There was no appearance for respondent or co-respondent.

The evidence went to show that petitioner was born at Jerry's Plains, near Singleton. He was married to respondent when he was seventeen years of age, by the Rev. Dr. Fullerton, LL.D., according to the rites of the Presbyterian Church. The marriage took place at Dr. Fullerton's residence, in Elizabeth-street, on the 6th April, 1859. Petitioner at the time resided with his parents, and was without any occupation or means of livelihood. Respondent was a cook and laundress in the employ of petitioner's parents. Some time after the marriage petitioner went to England, and since his return to the colony he had been residing on a station in the northern part of Queensland. It was only within the last eighteen months that he had had independent means of livelihood. For the last ten or eleven years respondent had lived with the late Captain Robinson, in Sydney, as his wife, and had had children by him.

The identity of the respondent was proved by police-sergeant Dawson, Mrs. Martha Wallace, and Mrs. Ellen M'Bride. Sergeant Dawson stated that, in company with petitioner, he served process in the present suit upon the respondent; she was under the influence of drink, but she said that petitioner was her first husband.

His Honor found for petitioner on both issues, marriage and adultery, and pronounced a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage, not to be made absolute until after the expiration of six months.

Bradley v. Bradley.

Petitioner, Alexander Bradley, sought dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery on the part of his wife, Rosanna Bradley, formerly Rosanna Quigley.

Mr. C. J. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Holdsworth and Brown, appeared for petitioner. There was no appearance on behalf of respondent.

The evidence in this case went to show that the parties were married by the Rev. Joseph Barnier, at St. Barnabas' Church, Sydney, on the 17th March, 1869. Petitioner was a mariner, and soon after marriage had to leave Sydney on a voyage to the South Seas. Before going away he made provision for his wife's support during his absence. He returned to Sydney for a time, and then went on other voyages, one of them to England; and for some years respondent had lived as the wife of John Archer, at Bushgrove, Woodford Island, Clarence River, by whom she had had children.

Evidence as to the identity of the respondent was given by Elizabeth Billingshurst and Thomas Googo(?).

His Honor was satisfied with the evidence as being conclusive as to the adultery and the marriage, and found for the petitioner on both issues, pronouncing a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage, not to be made absolute until after the expiration of six months.

Mayne v. Mayne.

Petitioner, Daniel Mayne, of Bathurst, gold miner and licensed victualler, sought dissolution of marriage on the ground of the adultery of his wife, Ann Mayne, formerly Ann Norris.

Mr. Wisdom, instructed by Mr. R. Driver, appeared for petitioner. There was no appearance on behalf of respondent. The co-respondent died a few months ago.

In this case the evidence went to show that petitioner and respondent were married on the 31st of March, 1855, at the Roman Catholic Church, Windsor, by the Rev. Patrick Hallinan. They lived and cohabited together for about four months, when, on something coming to petitioner's knowledge, he refused to cohabit with her further. She left his home with the intention, as she said, of going to her mother's. One child had been born of the said marriage. About four years after she left his home, he was on the Lachlan, when he received a summons to attend the police-court at Windsor, to show cause why he should not maintain his wife. He went to Windsor the day before the hearing of the case and saw his wife. He heard that she had given birth to a child about twelve months previously. He taxed her with it, and she did not deny it, and she did not appear at the police-court against him. Subsequently to this she became acquainted with the co-respondent, and went with him to Rockhampton, where she lived with him as his wife. Co-respondent died at Rockhampton.

Evidence in proof of the allegations contained in the petition was given by the petitioner, by Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Mortimore, and by Mr. R. Driver. The latter witness stated that he was especially requested that morning to see respondent. He went to the house where she was staying, and there saw respondent, her sister, and her cousin. He had a conversation with her in presence of the others, and she told him that she was the person named in the petition, that she was married to petitioner, as stated in the petition, and that after leaving her husband's house she went to Rockhampton with co-respondent, and lived with him there as his wife.

His Honor was satisfied from the evidence that there had been no collusion between the parties, and found for the petitioner on both issues—marriage and adultery. He pronounced a decree nisi for dissolution of marriage, not to be made absolute until after the expiration of six months.

SYDNEY QUARTER SESSIONS.

Friday.

Before Mr. District Court Judge Dowling.

Mr. W. J. Foster prosecuted for the Crown.

Illegally Pawning.

Edwin Hussey was charged with having, on the 1st day of April last, unlawfully and knowingly pawned three chairs the property of Robert Hughes; with having on the 3rd of April unlawfully pawned two chairs, and further on the same day four more chairs, also the property of the said Robert Hughes. Prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was undefended. It appears that Mr. Hughes, who is a furniture dealer in Oxford-street (South Head Road), before the late Exhibition of the Agricultural Society, gave to prisoner a dozen of American caned chairs, six old, and an equal number of new, so that at the Exhibition a blind boy who was in Hussey's employ, might take out the cane in them, and exhibit colonial industry, in putting fresh cane in; prisoner got on the spree, and got Robert Hussey (who, although a namesake, was no relative), who worked in the same shop, to pawn nine of the chairs, at three different periods; the pawntickets and money Robert Hussey handed to prisoner; when detective officer Patrick Lyons went to prisoner's house to arrest him, he observed him pass something to his wife, which he took out of her hands and found to be three pawntickets for nine chairs; three had not been pawned; prosecutor gave prisoner a good character, and a number of references were handed in. The jury, after a brief consultation, returned a verdict of guilty on the three counts. Warder Carroll deposed that at the Central Criminal Court, in May, 1868, prisoner was convicted and sentenced to three years, for assault and intent to rob. The warder said that in gaol prisoner could be employed in basket work. He was sentenced to six months, with hard labour, in Darlinghurst gaol, on each count; sentences to be concurrent.

Larceny.

Joseph Nurse, a man of colour, was charged with having at Newcastle, on the 15th of March last, stolen two boxes with clothing, the property of Henry Jackson. Prisoner, who pleaded not guilty, was undefended. It appeared that Jackson, who is also a man of colour, lived at Newcastle with his wife, a white woman, but was absent from home at the time of the robbery. Nurse went with Mrs. Jackson, and having paid some debts owing by Jackson, he took the boxes away also. On the morning of the 25th of March last, about 5 o'clock, constable John Maloney, who had another constable with him, saw prisoner, for whose arrest he had a warrant. Prisoner as soon as he caught sight of him said, "Here's the traps coming, but they won't catch me," and ran to the water which was 200 or 300 yards off and jumped in and began to swim away from the shore. Maloney jumped into the water and swam after him, and called out to a waterman to follow in a boat. This he did, and prisoner was pulled into the boat and taken ashore. When charged, prisoner said one of the boxes was his own, and the other Mrs. Jackson gave to him, saying it was here. On being searched, there were found on the prisoner five or six bullets. The constable had been told that prisoner had that morning, in Liverpool-street, before his arrest, fired off from a revolver several shots. He (Maloney) did not find a revolver on the prisoner. Nurse said that he had sent the boxes on to Parramatta, but they were found by the constable at the Lambing Flat Hotel, to which prisoner had brought them in a van. Mrs. Jackson, it was shown on the evidence of the landlord, was in the public-house with the prisoner when the boxes were there, and that one of them was opened in her presence. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and the prisoner was discharged.

Larceny.

William Dunn was charged with having on the 24th of April last stolen a coat, pair of trousers, and a strap, the property of Peter Hillery. Prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was undefended. A seaman of the schooner said that on going on board the Star of Peace he found the prisoner on the schooner with the articles of clothing mentioned in the information lying on the deck; he asked him at the time (11 o'clock at night) what he was doing there, and with the clothes, and he said that he had been told to take away the things of a chap who was going to leave; he induced Dunn to go down the hatch and then he closed it, and kept prisoner there till constable Thomas Smith arrived and took him into custody; the seaman said that he examined the padlock of the hatch, and found that it had been broken; the hatch led to the cabin where the master (Hillery) and the crew slept; the clothes hung on the deck were Hillery's; when the constable arrested Dunn he said that a man whom he was to meet at the corner of King and Sussex streets had promised to give him 2s. if he brought the clothes.

The case proceeded.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and prisoner was sentenced to twelve months' hard labour in Maitland Gaol.

Remanded till Next Sessions.

The Crown was not able then to proceed in the following cases, and

Thomas Gleeson, charged with stealing, was bound over to appear at the next sessions—self in £60, with two sureties of £30 each.

John Kelly and Thomas Morley, charged with stealing, bound over to appear at the next sessions—self in £40, with two sureties of £20 each.

William M'Dermott, charged with stealing, bound over to appear at the next sessions in his own recognizance for £40.

This closed the list of cases for trial.

Appeal Cases.

There were heard a few appeal cases of no general interest, after which the sessions terminated.

INSOLVENCY COURT.

Before the Chief Commissioner.

Friday.

In the estate of Gustav Riedt, a third meeting. Two debts were proved. No directions were given, and the meeting terminated.

In the estate of Thomas Francis Short, a first meeting. No debts were proved, and the meeting terminated.

In the estate of John Watts Gibbons, an adjourned special meeting for proof of debts. No debts were proved, and the meeting was adjourned until the 25th instant.

In the estate of Henry De Boos, a special meeting for proof of debts. One debt was proved and the meeting terminated.

In the estate of David Charles O'Neill, a special meeting for proof of debts. Four creditors proved and the meeting terminated.

In the matter of John Garred, Mr. Ashdown applied to have words improperly added to the order of the Court struck out. His Honor directed that upon an affidavit being filed of the wrongful insertion of the words, which appeared to have been done through inadvertence, an order be drawn up to strike out the words, applicant paying the cost.

Re Wilkinson, Brothers, and Co.

This is an application made, ex parte, by Mr. Sempill, by rehearing (granted by orders of 1st and 22nd April last) to reconsider or vary the paragraphs 2 and 3 of the order of 8th December, 1874, whereby £19 11s. 6d. (drawn out before assessment) was disallowed, and whereby £38 13s. 7d. for law costs (beyond the sum named by creditors) was also disallowed.

At first, I had doubts whether there could be any rehearing had before me, but as each one of the six Registrars in Bankruptcy daily sits in rotation for the Chief Judge, by the indirect delegation of such Judge, and then disposes of similar or analogous cases—as being a power inherent in a superior Court of Law and Equity—I made the order of 1st and 22nd April last for this rehearing in exercise of powers directly delegated by the Act of last year, exercised cumulatively with all former duties and powers.

The question as to costs being chiefly one of law and the legal and proper construction to be given to the various proceedings herein, and especially directions of creditors, when once ratified under 20 Vic., No. 24, I propose to consider the question of the costs first in order. By my interim order and judgment of 15th October, 1874, I pointed out the difficulty of allowing costs beyond the £300 specified by the 8th direction of creditors given on 6th December and ratified 9th December, 1869, and I directed explanation, and I invited argument, yet neither was then afforded. At this rehearing the matter has been now fully gone into on behalf of the official assignee. It is contended that the amount for costs already incurred prior to such directions, if proper within 63rd section of 5th Vict., No. 17, were chargeable against assets, and even recoverable from creditors in default of assets; and therefore, as a debt due at the time of such directions and ratification, they could not form any part of the £300, the amount limited for future expenditure. From a minute analysis of the costs at present supplied, and the verified correction of dates deposed to by affidavit, the facts now brought forward at the rehearing appear to substantiate such contention; and on the law as applicable to the facts, I am of opinion that paragraph 2 ought to be discharged, and the item of £38 13s. 7d. for costs now to be allowed in this second account and plan. Although the directions generally took effect on the ratification being made, on Mr. Sempill's motion, 9th December, 1869, yet, from the phraseology adopted by the 8th direction, the time applicable to the limit of £300 may reasonably, and on no argument being advanced to the contrary, be fairly taken to run only from the date of the confirmation of the first account and plan of distribution which took place on the 29th of the same month of December in the same year.

I have next to reconsider the disallowance of the item of £19 11s. 6d., being money which (part of other sums in seven insolvent estates, amounting to £211 2s. 7d. in all) was drawn out of the funds to the credit of the official assignee in the bank, without any prior assessment under the 51st section of the Insolvent Act. The whole of that was applied, 17th March, 1874, to his own use as the defendant in Bisnold(?) v. Sempill, thus paying the plaintiff's costs of the judgment recovered early in the February preceding. This was first ascertained on 14th August, 1874, by Mr. Sempill's deposition taken in his own insolvency. By the affidavit of Mr. Sempill (sworn and filed 19th ultimo), he alleges his belief that he was entitled to do so; but the continuous practice of the Court since 1st February, 1842, has been to the contrary. Following the course adopted by the Supreme Court on appeal, re John Gough Waller (when two former Chief Commissioners were asked as to the practice of the Court), I communicated with my learned predecessor, and he, without hesitation, stated that from May, 1861, to 30th June, 1865, he had never been aware of, or had sanctioned, the drawing out of any money for compensation by an official assignee, without previous assessment. I can also from 1st July, 1865, say the same.

For the reasons pronounced 24th August last, I gave an early opportunity to Mr. Sempill (on 3rd September last), to show that he was entitled so to act in this estate, and also in the six other estates, but he then declined to do or say anything. Now it appears to me that it would be affectation to exclude or ignore the taking of this £19 11s. 6d. from the entire transaction of the money being so withdrawn and used.

It is impossible to say it was through inadvertence, as it was so in the seven estates following, viz.:—1. Wilkinson, Brothers, and Co.; 2. Hebblewhite and Co.; 3. Strachan and Co.; 4. Baird and Co.; 5. M'Kinlay, Brothers; 6. Gullick and Co.; and 7. Sydney Charles Burt, all old sequestrations, but each in a very different category as to their condition and surrounding circumstances.

Neither could it be ex necessitate, as a matter of time, as the very latest credit for money received was so far back as 20th February of 1871, and the Equity suit of Sempill v. Nicolle had been compromised some three weeks before 16th July, 1873, as appears by the bill of costs; and thus during all that period of time, Mr. Sempill could, at any given moment, have applied for an assessment in due course, and in accordance with the provisions of the 51st section of the 5 Victoria, No. XVII, the original Insolvent Act, and which has ever remained untouched by any subsequent legislative variation (save as to the name of official assignee, instead of trustees), or by any rule or practice of the Court.

On the grounds and evidence stated and set out, or referred to, in my several judgments and orders of 24th August, 15th September, and 8th December, 1874, and the above reasons, I can make no order for the said third paragraph to be varied.

The order I can now make is as follows, viz.:—1. Discharge paragraph 2 of the said order of 8th December, 1874, and now allow the item of £38 13s. 7d. for law costs as entered in the third account and plan of distribution herein. 2. No order as to paragraph 3 of the said order of 8th December, 1874. 3. And let a further and third account and plan be forthwith submitted for audit, and assessment and approval, whereon all further orders will be made as shall be just.

I hand down the minutes to the Registrar in Insolvency of the formal order on this rehearing.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Friday.

Before Messrs. Jolly, Reading, and Levey.

Eleven persons were fined for drunkenness, and three were discharged with admonitions.

George Hutchinson was brought before the Court by constable Parry, charged with having been an idle and disorderly person. Parry deposed that about midnight he found the man drunk in Clarence-street, and apprehended him as a vagrant; he had been dealt with several times for various offences; "in fact, I gave him six months myself as an habitual drunkard;" never knew him to work or to have any lawful means of support; last saw him in custody some time last year. To be imprisoned six months. On leaving the dock the prisoner made use of a dirty expression, for which he received an additional sentence of seven days' imprisonment.

Before Captain Scott and Mr. Goldring.

Edward Lewis was charged with assault. Ellen Philben, of Queen's-place, deposed that on the 26th May she was in a dance-room in Sussex-street, and was invited by prisoner to dance with him, which, having been previously engaged, she declined, and he danced with another; that other, after the dance, asked her (complainant) his name, and she told her; defendant came over to them, and said, "Which of you —— mentioned my name?" she replied that she mentioned his name, but not out of any harm; he then struck her on the nose, and kicked her, and threatened that when he got her outside he would give her more. Mary Ann Gaston corroborated complainant's evidence. To pay a penalty of 60s., or to be imprisoned two months.

John Charles Ray was brought before the Court by detective Camphin, who deposed that about 3 o'clock this morning he saw the defendant at the station-house, in George-street, where he had been brought by detective Lyons, and charged him, in consequence of a telegram from a sub-inspector of police at Melbourne to the Inspector General of Police in Sydney, with having at Melbourne, embezzled the sum of £1000; prisoner said, in reply, that he had deposited £1000 in his own name, in the Union Bank, at Melbourne, but that he knew nothing about embezzlement; he handed to witness a bank draft for £648 2s. 6d., payable in Sydney; £32 1s. 4d. in gold and silver money, and a slip representing a deposit of £997 17s. 10d., by J. C. Ray, in the Union Bank of Australia, in Melbourne; and some papers and letters, produced; he acknowledged himself to be J. C. Ray; he arrived last night by the City of Adelaide. Remanded until Wednesday next.

James Clark, 10, was charged with cutting and wounding. Henry Gracur, a boy of some 12 or 14 years, deposed that last night he saw prisoner go into a tobacconist's shop in George-street, lift up a case and take a knife from it, and run away; witness followed him to Bathurst-street, and on overtaking him told him to give up the knife; he refused, and witness took hold of him to secure it by force; the knife was open in prisoner's hand; prisoner made two stabs at him, the second of which struck him on the shoulder; he went to the police-station, and was taken to the Infirmary, where Dr. Brady dressed the wound. Michael Dunn corroborated Gracur's evidence. Dr. Brady deposed that the wound was of about a quarter of an inch in length and two inches in depth—such as would be made by a sharp-pointed knife; there is no evident danger. The boy was committed for trial at the Gaol delivery.

Before Messrs. Oatley, Cohen, Hunt, and Holborow.

On the prosecution of acting sub-inspector Rush, Henry Macnamara was found guilty of having neglected to cleanse his slaughter-house, situated in the town of Petersham, within one hour after the slaughtering of certain animals thereat, and for his offence was sentenced to pay a penalty of £5, with £2 2s. professional costs to Mr. Roberts, who conducted the prosecution. Honora Delahunty was fined 10s. for keeping her public-house open for the sale of liquor during prohibited hours on Sunday; and Sarah Lindeman was fined 2s. 6d. for conveying liquor from a public-house at an illegal hour. In Hind v. Greig, affiliation, an order was made by consent for payment of 5s. a week for the child's support. Albert Martin was sentenced to be detained in custody until 1 p.m., on conviction of having driven a cart for the purpose of removing night-soil within the prohibited hours. Three persons were fined 1s. each, for discharging fireworks in public places. In Downs v. Brown, and Downs v. M'Carthy, proceedings under the Tenants' Act against overholding tenants, complainant obtained in each case a seven days' warrant. Five cases were postponed, and an equal number were struck out for want of prosecution.

WATER POLICE COURT.

Friday.

Before the Water Police Magistrate and Messrs. Lester, Mullens, and Solomon.

Eight persons were fined in sums varying from 5s. to 10s. for drunkenness.

Kitty, an aboriginal, for being drunk and disorderly in Macquarie-street, was fined 20s., or, in default, seven days in gaol.

Mary M'Kean, for having been thrice convicted of drunkenness within the preceding 12 months, and behaving in an indecent manner in Adolphus-street, Balmain, was sent to gaol for six months, with hard labour.

Summons Sheet.—Hugh Donohue, for wilfully interrupting Henry Dadds whilst performing work as a servant employed by the Municipal Council of Sydney, was fined 40s. and 5s. costs, and, in default, seven days gaol. In the cases against Hugh Donohue, for breaches of the Corporation by-laws, the first one was withdrawn, and the second dismissed. Timothy Moroney was fined 40s., and 5s. costs, or fourteen days in gaol, for having his premises in a filthy state. Samuel Toogood, for a breach of the Corporation by-laws, was ordered to pay a fine of 40s., with 5s. costs, and in default seven days gaol. Mathew Ward, James Donohue, and Peter Fitzsimmons were each fined 10s., and 5s. costs, for breaches of the Transit by-laws.

Andrew Clark was brought up, charged with having, on or about the 1st of February, stolen a gold anchor, of the value of 40s., the property of Frederick Newell, on board the Mikado, on the high seas. Evidence was taken; and the case, not being concluded, was adjourned till half-past 10 o'clock this morning.

Thomas Jamieson was charged with wilfully destroying certain property belonging to Patrick Dugan, doing damage to the amount of about 1s. 6d. Defendant was ordered to pay the amount of damage done, together with 6s. 6d. costs, or seven days' gaol.

In the case of John Charles Rossiter against George Whiteford, for wages, an order was made that the defendant pay £28 wages, 10s. compensation, and 4s. 10d. costs of Court.

Mrs. Corbett was summoned by William Moore for illegal detention of a dog. The Bench ordered it to be delivered up.

Licensing Business.—A transfer of the license of the Tradesman's Arms Hotel, William-street, from Peter Manson to John Harrison Barclay, was effected.

MARAVILLA COCOA.—Taylor, Brothers, London, having the exclusive supply of this unrivalled Cocoa, invite comparison with any other cocoa for purity—fine aroma—sanative, nutritive, and sustaining power. One trial will establish it as a favourite beverage for breakfast, luncheon, and a soothing refreshment after a late evening.

MARAVILLA COCOA.—The Globe says:—"Taylor, Brothers' Maravilla Cocoa has achieved a thorough success, and supersedes every other cocoa in the market. Entire solubility, a delicate aroma, and a rare concentration of the purest elements of nutrition, distinguish the Maravilla Cocoa above all others. For consumers of cocoa, especially invalids and dyspeptics, we could not recommend a more agreeable or valuable beverage." For further favourable opinions vide Standard, Morning Post, British Medical Journal, &c. &c.

HOMŒOPATHIC COCOA.—This original preparation, which has attained such a world-wide reputation, is manufactured by Taylor, Brothers, under the ablest homœopathic advice, aided by the skill and experience of the inventors, and will be found to combine in an eminent degree the purity, fine aroma, and nutritious property of the fresh nut.

SOLUBLE CHOCOLATE, made in one minute without boiling. The above articles are prepared exclusively by TAYLOR, BROTHERS, the largest manufacturers in Europe, and sold in tin-lined packets by storekeepers and others all over the world.

MUSTARD.—Taylor, Brothers' celebrated "Challenge" brand is prepared from the choicest seed by a patent process which prevents fermentation, and at the same time retains the pungency and purity of flavour to a degree which no other process can accomplish. The double-superfined quality is specially recommended. Steam Mills—Brick-lane, London. Export Chicory Mills—Bruges, Belgium.

NEW SOUTH WALES PARLIAMENT.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Friday, June 4.

The Speaker took the chair at twenty-nine minutes past 4 o'clock.

PUBLICATIONS RESPECTING RESOURCES OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

Mr. MACINTOSH asked the Colonial Treasurer,—"1. What were the titles of the several publications sent by the Government to England since 1870 to date, with the view to afford special information in reference to the resources of New South Wales? 2. What was the number of volumes of each publication so sent? 3. Is the Government aware that the whole (or nearly so) of those publications are now stored in London?"

Mr. FORSTER answered—1. "The Industrial Progress of New South Wales;" and "New South Wales, the Oldest and Richest of the Australian Colonies," by Charles Robinson. 2. Of the first mentioned work, 136 copies were sent to England between April, 1871, and November, 1872; and of the other work, 60,005 copies were sent in 1873. 3. I have no information on this point.

SELECTIONS ON CAMPBELL'S RIVER.

Mr. PILCHER asked the Secretary for Lands,—"1. Did a person named Frederick Walters, about the beginning of last year, or at some other time, select certain blocks of land under the 22nd section of the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861? 2. Are those blocks of land situated in the parish of Langedale(?), and county of Westmoreland, and upon Campbell's River? 3. Has the said Frederick Walters complied with the requirements of the Crown Lands Occupation Act in respect of the said selections? 4. Is it a fact that the said Frederick Walters has sub-let the said selections in portions for agricultural purposes, and that they are now in the possession of agricultural tenants of the said Frederick Walters? 5. Is it a fact that the said selections are not mineral lands at all, but some of the best agricultural land upon the banks of Campbell's River? 6. Has the said Frederick Walters, at any time, and, if so, when, done any act, and, if so, what act, towards developing the mineral resources of the said selections? 7. What steps do the Government propose to take in the matter?"

Mr. GARRETT answered—1. Yes; in November, 1873. 2. No; they are church and school lands, parish of Oakley, county of Bathurst. 3. Yes; as far as paying rent; in the present state of the law, there are no other conditions to be complied with, except the expenditure of £5 per acre within the first three years of the lease. It is proposed to amend the law in this respect. 4. Not known. 5. Not known, but shall be examined. 6. Not known. 7. The circumstances shall be fully inquired into as soon as possible.

Mr. PILCHER asked the Secretary for Lands,—"1. Did a person named Thomas Shalvey, in the early part of this year, select a certain portion of land under the 5th section of the Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861? 2. Is the land situated on Campbell's River, and near to certain blocks selected by one Frederick Walters under the 22nd section of the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861, in the same locality? 3. Has the Secretary for Lands intimated to the said Thomas Shalvey that his selection will be forfeited, on the ground that when taken up by him it was improved land within the meaning of the Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861? 4. From whom did the Minister for Lands obtain the information that the land selected by Shalvey was not open for free selection?"

Mr. GARRETT answered: 1. Yes. 2. Yes. 3. No, the land was cancelled. 4. From the Surveyor-General's department, the surveyor who surveyed the land having so reported.

PUBLIC SCHOOL AT COW FLAT.

Mr. PILCHER asked the Colonial Secretary,—"1. What steps (if any) have been taken towards establishing a Public school at Cow Flat? 2. What length of time has elapsed since the petition from the Cow Flat Copper Mining Company's miners was presented? 3. Do the Government intend, and if so when, to cause a Public school to be established at Cow Flat?"

Mr. FORSTER answered: 1. Correspondence has taken place with the gentleman who addressed the Colonial Secretary respecting the proposed school, the proper forms have been supplied, and returned filled up, and the usual inquiry has been made by the inspector. 2. No petition has been received from the Cow Flat Copper Mining Company's miners, but a letter was received from Mr. S. H. Gannon on the 27th January last. 3. The Council of Education is still in correspondence with Mr. Gannon respecting the proposed school.

RUSHCUTTER BAY.

Mr. MACINTOSH asked the Secretary for Public Works,—"1. Is he aware that the fore-shore of the harbour at Rushcutter Bay has become a nuisance, and dangerous to the health of the citizens near that locality? 2. Will he bring the matter before the Government, with the view to the reclamation of the land and the abatement of the nuisance?"

Mr. LACKEY answered.—1. I regret to have to state that the deposit at Rushcutter Bay has become very offensive and probably injurious to health, owing to the sewerage and washing down from the buildings surrounding the head of the bay. 2. I desire to say that this is one of the places the Government contemplate reclaiming as soon as practicable.

CASE OF MR. BAMFORD.

Mr. CAMERON asked the Colonial Secretary,—"1. Did the omission from the Brigade Order of the words in the Executive minute and in his Excellency's letter 'as Commanding, &c.,' remove Captain Bamford not only from his command, but erroneously altogether from the Volunteer force? 2. Was it the Commandant's intention so to remove Captain Bamford altogether? 3. If so, by what authority?"

Mr. FORSTER answered.—1. Mr. Bamford's removal from the Volunteer force appears to have been a necessary consequence of his removal from the command of the No. 8 Battery, his only status, by commission in the force at that time. 2. It was the intention of the Commandant to carry out the instructions of the Government. 3. The Commandant acted upon the authority of the Government in the matter.

ADJOURNMENT—SPECIAL JURY AT BATHURST.

Mr. BUCHANAN moved the adjournment of the House to call attention to the fact that nearly the whole of the fifteen persons on the special jury list at Bathurst were related to one another, and that they were principally squatters. He pointed out that under these circumstances the just administration of the law might be imperilled.

Mr. PILCHER took advantage of the motion for adjournment to call the attention of the House to a circumstance disclosed in an answer to a question to-day. It was that a person had taken up certain blocks of land under the Crown Lands Occupation Act, and, instead of using the land for the purposes which the law intended, had converted it into agricultural farms. The Minister for Lands had said that the law could not prevent this being done, but, as there was a Land Bill now before the House, it would be a good thing to introduce a clause into the occupation part of the bill to prevent a continuance of what was a deliberate fraud upon the law.

Mr. CAMERON admitted that the case brought forward by the hon. member for East Macquarie was one of importance, but he thought it a pity that the attention of the House had been called away from the matter brought under their notice by the hon. member for the Western Gold-fields. He did not agree with that hon. gentleman's remarks about squatters, for he thought it would be equally objectionable if a special jury were all butchers, or all bakers, or any other class. But he did think it objectionable that a jury list should be composed of a number of gentlemen so closely related to one another. It would certainly open the door to abuses, and cause a feeling to grow up, whether rightly or wrongly, that the administration of justice might have been different if these gentlemen had not been on the jury. He would like some explanation from the gentleman representing the Colonial Secretary respecting the composition of this jury.

Mr. MEYER thought it a pity that reflections should have been cast upon the gentlemen composing that jury list. He contended that the best proof that the free selectors had confidence in one of the M'Phillamys was that when he offered himself as a candidate for a seat in that House they returned him. It had not been shown that there was any deficiency in the Jury Act, and he pointed out that in special jury cases the defendant, as well as the plaintiff, had each power to strike out two names. He could not see why the gentlemen who had been named should be prevented from filling the position of special jurors. It appeared to him that what was sought was to strike these gentlemen off the list altogether, which would be to throw a slur upon these gentlemen, and he would ask what grounds there were for saying that these gentlemen were not fit to occupy that position.

Mr. HILL said that if dishonesty was not meant to be imputed to these families, he did not understand what was meant. It had been said that the free selector would have no chance if the Lees or the M'Phillamys were on the jury. Now he did not stand there to defend those gentlemen, but he thought they were as well known in that House as any gentlemen in the country. He should have the most perfect confidence, if he had a case there, to have these gentlemen on the jury.

Mr. PIDDINGTON was not aware that anything had been said against the jury list, nor did he see that there was any foundation for what had been said. He could only suppose that it was desired to purge the jury list of these obnoxious individuals—in fact, to pack the jury list. There was no reason given why these gentlemen should be singled out in this invidious manner. He called it a most odious attempt to damage the character of gentlemen who were not there to defend themselves. He could not see any reasonable objection to having two or three brothers on the jury list.

Mr. W. FORSTER said that, with regard to this question, when any hon. member brought forward a matter that he considered a grievance, it was the duty of the Government to inquire into it. It was said that fifteen names comprised the entire jury list of Bathurst, and if that were the case, the matter did present some grounds for consideration. [Hon. members: "It is not the case. It is contrary to law."] He was not in a position to decide that point. He did not in any way endorse any remarks that might seem to reflect upon the honesty and integrity of the gentlemen who had been named here. It was an evil of our jury system that jurors, from whatever class selected, are liable at certain periods of popular commotion to be carried away by the popular current, as for instance in the case of the Burrangong riots, when an attorney went up to defend the rioters, and he went round the town and got into conversation with every man likely to be on the jury list, and, when the jury was empanelled, he took precious good care that all those who were of an adverse opinion were excluded from the jury. As a general rule he did not think a jury list could well be objected to, no matter how many persons were on it of the same family or occupation, provided that there be a fair number of persons to select from. No doubt, in a small district, it was quite possible that their jury system might work in a manner prejudicial to the course of justice, in consequence of the small number of persons from whom selection was to be made. He did not say anything of the kind had occurred in the case in question. As far as the Government were concerned, he was willing to undertake that an inquiry should be made into the circumstances of the case.

Mr. DAY said his great objection to what was complained of was, that the special juries were the very men who appointed themselves. The special jury list in question, it seemed, was composed of fifteen gentlemen, and these gentlemen were all magistrates. It was a bench of magistrates who appointed the special jurors.

Mr. FARNELL: No.

Mr. DAY maintained that the benches of magistrates in every district in the colony appointed the special jurors. There was something radically wrong in this state of things. (Hear, hear.) He was glad that the Colonial Secretary had signified the intention of the Government to look into this thing. If the Government made the appointment of special jurors it would be quite a different thing. People should not only be honest, they should be above suspicion.

Mr. DRIVER said that it might be in the recollection of some hon. gentlemen that he some years ago drew the attention of their Attorney-General (Sir James Martin) to the mode in which these lists were prepared. No proper jury lists were prepared in this colony. The hon. member for the Hume was incorrect in saying that the special jury lists were prepared by the magistrates. It was no thing of the kind. Under the Jury Act, section 10, it was enacted that immediately after the making out of the ordinary jury lists, the Sheriff should make out a list of special jurors from year to year.

Mr. DAY: Who puts the esquire to all the special jurors?

Mr. DRIVER did not know whether the policeman had any particular instructions in this matter. What he did know was that some alteration was required in the jury list. He could appeal to hon. members whether they had not known of jurors sitting in cases of forgery who were unable to read and write. The jurors often called upon to decide nice points of law were often not men who would, under ordinary circumstances, be entrusted with deciding upon questions of property of the value of sixpence. Again, taking the special jury list, they might any day see in the Supreme Court tallowchandlers and shopkeepers. He did not object to that as these persons probably possessed more than ordinary intelligence, but still when the law said that no one engaged in the retail trade should be on the special jury list, these persons ought not to be chosen. They might hear the name of John Jones, Esq., called upon as a special juror, and the next day they might see the man driving a horse and cart through the streets of Sydney. The boasted system of trial by jury became a farce when such a state of things was allowed. He could name hundreds of cases such as the one referred to by the Colonial Treasurer, where an attorney made it his business to wait upon jurymen in order to ascertain their views on a case in which the solicitor was interested. For a fee of ten shillings the names of the jury empanelled at any particular court could be ascertained, and would not any man be willing to pay that to find out who the jury should be composed of in his own case. He believed that in the particular case before the House, the gentlemen referred to were worthy of all confidence. Though one of them was a gentleman through whom he had lost his seat at an election, he knew of no person in whose hands he would more willingly trust a case for decision than that gentleman.

Mr. DAY, in explanation, said that he did not know what was the law in regard to the appointment of special jurors, but he could state that the magistrates throughout the country did appoint the special jurors.

Mr. SPEAKER reminded the hon. gentleman that his remarks could not be taken as an explanation.

Mr. DANGAR could not help protesting against the hon. and learned member for the Western Gold-fields taking every opportunity of making imputations of the grossest character against a body of men for whom he generally had some sympathy. If the facts with regard to the composition of juries were as he thought they were, they were not in accordance with what the hon. and learned member stated.

Mr. BUCHANAN denied that he had made any reflection upon the gentleman he had referred to; on the contrary, he had said they were all honourable men. But it was the unseemly position which some of them occupied with regard to juries that he had desired to call the attention of the House to.

The question of adjournment was put and negatived.

FREE EDUCATION.

Mr. DAVIES, on behalf of Mr. Dibbs, moved—"That there be laid upon the table of this House a return showing—1. The number of children who have, in each year since 1866, received free education in the schools under the Council. 2. The number of such children in the Denominational and Public schools respectively. 3. The number of such children in each year in the Church of England schools, Roman Catholic schools, Presbyterian schools, and Wesleyan schools."

The motion was put and agreed to.

CHARGES AGAINST MR. JUSTICE JUSTILIUS.

Mr. DAVIES moved—"That there be laid upon the table of this House copies of all correspondence and papers relating to charges made by the Rev. George Gurney against Mr. Justice Justilius, teacher of the certified Church of England school at Emu Plains; and also copies of all papers relating to a counter charge made by the teacher against the Rev. George Gurney, together with copies of all papers in this matter."

The motion was put and agreed to.

PETITIONS.

The House ordered the printing of the following petitions:—

The petition presented by Mr. Stevens on the 3rd June, from residents of Lambton, New Lambton, and Waratah, relative to immigration.

The petition presented by Mr. Burns on the 3rd June, from residents of Greta, Anvil Creek, and neighbourhood, relative to immigration.

The petition laid upon the table of the House by the Honorable the Secretary for Public Works on the 4th May last, from the inhabitants of Wallabadah, relative to Amos Davis.

DOG ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

Mr. TERRY, in moving the second reading of the bill, said he had been induced to bring the measure forward, because he conceived there was great necessity for an Act of the kind. A considerable number of petitions had been sent in in favour of some measure which would reduce the number of dogs in the country districts. One had been presented from the district which he had the honour to represent. He had not brought in an elaborate bill, but simply one which would give the Government power to extend the provisions of the present Act to the police districts. It would amend in some essential points the present Act, and make it more workable. He should not now enter into an elaborate discussion of the question, as it had been fully debated on a former occasion. To show the necessity for some such bill, he need only point to the district in which he resided. About a fortnight ago, Mr. Pye had fifty sheep killed by one dog. He had been told by a squatter residing at the Union Club that three or four weeks ago a valuable ram belonging to him, and worth £100, had been killed by dogs. Under this bill people would be able to ascertain to whom the dog belonged; and it would induce people in the county of Cumberland to keep sheep, which they could not at present do. Acts similar to the one he now proposed, were in operation in nearly every other Australian colony. He had taken some pains in the preparation of the measure, and had had the benefit of the assistance of the hon. member for Raymond-Terrace. An important feature of the bill was that which provided for its extension to police districts as well as the towns. He proposed to make the penalties recoverable in a summary way before two or more Justices; and to introduce a new clause which would not require the prosecutor to prove the knowledge of a previous mischievous propensity on the part of the owner of the dog, and that he believed was now the law in England. The ravages of dogs had been considerable at Albury, and a flockowner in the Forbes district stated that his sheep were being destroyed by tame dogs at the rate of about 600 a year. He did not propose to increase the registration fee of 1s., for he thought the power to recover for damage done would be sufficient. If the clause which enabled the Inspector-General to make regulations were objected to he should not object to it being omitted.

Mr. GARRETT should not oppose the bill going into committee, but in committee he should expect the hon. member to propose certain amendments, in order to carry out more effectually the object of the bill. The clause which remitted the making of regulations to the Inspector-General of Police was more particularly objectionable. He would suggest that a clause should be introduced to enable persons to register dogs by letter; and he thought the fee ought to be increased, though not to the extent of 5s. At the present time there was no penalty on the owner of a dog which attacked cattle or sheep out of a town or off a road. The objections were pointed out to him by the Chief Inspector of Stock, who had given a good deal of attention to the subject, and he mentioned them now in order that they might be remedied in committee.

Mr. NELSON objected that the bill ought to have been originated in Committee of the Whole, as it proposed to extend a charge upon the people.

Mr. SPEAKER said it seemed to him to be a matter of great doubt whether the bill should be introduced in committee or not; but, as the objection had been taken, he thought the bill should be introduced in committee.

The question then dropped.

DIVORCE BILL.

Mr. BUCHANAN moved the second reading of this bill.

The motion was agreed to, the bill was read a second time, and the House went into committee to consider it in detail.

The preamble was postponed.

Clause 1 was proposed, as follows:—"It shall be lawful for any husband to present a petition to the Court praying that his marriage may be dissolved on the ground that his wife has, since the celebration thereof, been guilty of wilful desertion for four years and upwards. And it shall be lawful for any wife to present a petition praying that her marriage may be dissolved on the ground that, since the celebration thereof, her husband has been guilty of wilful desertion for four years and upwards. Every petition praying for a dissolution of marriage under the provisions of this Act, shall state as distinctly as the nature of the case permits, the facts on which the claim to have such marriage dissolved is founded."

Mr. STUART objected to the clause, and intimated his intention to vote against it.

Mr. WISDOM said it would be an unusual thing, after passing the second reading of a bill, to vote against the clause which contained the principle of it. By passing the second reading the House had committed itself to the principle of the bill.

Mr. PIDDINGTON did not see why hon. members should not vote against the clause. There was no particular argument in favour of fixing the period of desertion at four years. He objected to the clause because it allowed the marriage bond to be broken simply by desertion, and that for four years only. He would, therefore, vote against the clause. If the law of Scotland was to be an example to them, why was it not introduced into this bill? Why was not the time fixed at two years, as in Scotland? Why should they adopt four years as the period which should entitle a person to sue for a divorce any more than two years; or why should they choose two years any more than one? He objected to this principle of allowing divorce for simple desertion. It did not follow because Lord Lyndhurst was a great equity lawyer that we are to take his authority as conclusive upon the question of divorce. What would have been the result if such a proposal as this had been submitted to the House of Lords? Probably not half a dozen members would have voted for it; probably only Lord Lyndhurst himself. Whatever authorities might be cited, he did not think it would be desirable to embody in this country the principle of allowing divorce for simple desertion. No one could deny that a deserted wife had a great grievance, but that was no reason why such a bill as this should be passed. He questioned whether, if this bill were passed, the results would not be more injurious to the welfare of the country than any possible good that would arise. It was because he thought this would be the case that he intended to vote against this clause.

Mr. DIBBS was disposed to attach as much importance to desertion as to any of the other offences for which divorce was granted. He thought there could scarcely be a worse act than for a man to desert his wife, and leave her and her children to starve. This bill would give equal rights to both the woman and the man. If those who opposed this bill could bring any authorities to show that such legislation was bad, let them do so. He should have great pleasure in supporting the clause.

Mr. MACINTOSH said that there might be hardships under the present state of things, but society could not exist without hardships, and he thought if this bill were passed, greater evils would result than exist at the present time. In a country like this, where people go away to the diggings for a length of time, if a man were away for four years it would be a very nice thing when he came back to find a stranger in his place. It was very difficult to prove what "wilful" meant. He believed in law everything was wilful. It would be far better for them to reject this bill. No authority was wanted; let them take their own common sense. He believed this bill would have a very evil effect upon society, and loosen the bonds that keep it together. He did not think they ought to introduce here one part of the law of Scotland without the other.

Attention was called to the state of the committee, and there not being a quorum present, the House resumed and the fact was reported. A quorum was found and the committee resumed.

Mr. MACINTOSH thought this bill was of a dangerous character. Supposing a man went down to Fiji, and found it difficult to return. Then his wife might keep back all the letters sent to her and say that her husband had wilfully deserted her, if this bill were passed.

Mr. R. M. FORSTER regarded this as a most dangerous innovation. He did not know what society would come to if it were passed. He had read of a number of young ladies of different names in the slave states of America all having the same parent. They might expect some such a result here if this law were passed. In his own experience he knew of a miner who left his wife near Newcastle, and went to New Zealand, to better his circumstances. At first he was successful and remitted his earnings to his wife; but after a time he became destitute, and was unable to send any more money. After four years, he managed to get the means to return and then he found his wife with a baby in arms and another child by her side. If a law of this kind were in existence the woman would be able to come to the Court and swear that her husband had deserted her. He denied that there was any scriptural authority for the principle of this bill as had been alleged. He should vote against the clause.

Mr. TERRY said that he should be compelled to vote against this proposal. It would tend to weaken the marriage tie.

Mr. STUART said that through ignorance of the forms of the House he had allowed the second reading of the bill to pass without opposing it. He objected to the bill in toto. He opposed it on higher grounds than the mere difficulties that might arise. He opposed it on principle. The marriage tie was one of the most sacred between individuals in society. Gross cases of hardship might occur and had occurred by desertion on the one side and on the other, but these had better be suffered than that a grievous wrong should be suffered by the whole community, which he considered would be the case if this bill were passed. He did not believe it was desirable either to give too great facilities for marrying or for obtaining a divorce from marriage, but especially for obtaining a divorce. No scriptural arguments could be adduced in favour of the bill. On the contrary, the Scripture was absolutely against it. One cause, and one cause only, afforded justification for divorce.

Mr. W. WATSON entirely agreed with the principle that dissolution of marriage might take place after desertion for a certain period.

Mr. W. SUTTOR: 100 years. (Laughter.)

Mr. W. WATSON thought, after a period of desertion lasting seven years, that dissolution should take place.

Mr. W. FORSTER said that as the House had assented to the principle of the bill, his hon. friend the member for East Sydney (Mr. Stuart) was bound to have been more emphatic in his arguments at the present stage. He did not feel the cogency of the hon. gentleman's reasoning when he told them that it was better for a few persons in the community to suffer a grievous wrong than that a large number in the community should be injured. It was admitted that a number suffered; but how was the injury to the community made out in case of the passing of the bill. Almost every attempt at reform was met by similar arguments. You were told that your arguments were logical, that you had made out a case of great wrong, but the community would be injured. Either the constitution or the Church was in danger. [Mr. T. DANGAR called attention to the state of the committee, and a quorum was formed.] He thought hon. gentlemen, who adopted such arguments, who endeavoured to set up a supposed or alleged injury to the community against an alleged and admitted grievance on the part of a small number of individuals, were bound to show that injury in a most complete way. Passing over the religious arguments, which he did not profess to be qualified to deal with——

Mr. T. DANGAR called attention to the state of the committee, and a quorum not being formed, the House resumed. There still being no quorum present, the House was then adjourned at five minutes past 8 o'clock until 4 o'clock on Monday. The following hon. gentlemen were present when the House was counted out—Messrs. Lackey, Byrnes, W. Forster, Garrett, Buchanan, Stuart, Macintosh, T. Dangar, Jacob, Bennett, W. Suttor, Dibbs, Parkes, Hoskins, W. Watson, Piddington, Terry, Driver.

NEW NOTICES.

Monday, June 7.

Mr. T. G. Dangar to ask the Postmaster-General,—Is it the intention of the Government to extend the telegraph wire to the Parliamentary buildings; if so, when?

Mr. Bennett to ask the Secretary for Public Works,—1. The number of contracts, and amounts in each case, that have been given to other contractors in excess of Amos Davis's tenders, especially to include Wallabadah and Walgett bridges, since 1864 to present time. 2. The cost to the Government of the fixing of the iron superstructure of foot-bridge, Bowling Alley Point, including transport of Macpherson's piling plant, and refixing centre pier. 3. The amount of Davis's tender for fixing said iron superstructure?

Mr. Lucas to move,—That this House will, on Wednesday next, resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole to consider the desirability of bringing in a bill to make better provision for the regulation of mining.

Mr. Davies to ask the Secretary for Public Works,—1. What were the names of the parties tendering for the Refreshment Rooms at Sydney, Mount Victoria, and Sutton Forest Stations in 1873, with the right to sell spirituous liquors? 2. What was the amount of bonus offered by the several parties so tendering? 3. What was the amount paid (if any) as a bonus by the present lessee?

Mr. Davies to ask the Colonial Secretary,—1. Is it true that Mr. Goodchap informed Mr. Fosbery, Inspector-General of Police, on the 28th December, 1874, that John Sutherland, Esq., M.P., late Secretary for Public Works, was desirous a license should be granted for the sale of spirituous liquors at the Sydney Railway Station? 2. Is it true that such intimation, with other papers bearing on this matter, were submitted to the Bench of Magistrates who granted the license?

Mr. Garrett to move for leave to bring in a bill for vesting in the Municipal Council of East Maitland the land known as the East Maitland Pasturage Reserve?

Tuesday, June 8.

Mr. Davies to ask the Secretary for Public Works,—1. By whose authority were the single-headed rails recently imported ordered from the Park Gate Company? 2. Is it true that the Engineer-in-Chief, some eighteen months ago, remonstrated and reported against the single-headed rails which have proved to be of so bad a quality? 3. Is it true that the Engineer-in-Chief at that time recommended the Secretary for Public Works to cancel the order of the Park Gate Iron Company's rails, as being bad and unsuitable, and not in compliance with the specification?

Mr. Taylor to ask the Secretary for Public Works,—1. Is it true that Mr. Chipps, the late Inspector of Railways, has levanted from the colony? 2. Has he taken with him any of the Government funds or property; if so, what amount, and what does the property consist of? 3. Is it true that his wife and family sailed for England from Newcastle in the ship Indus, and do the Government intend to take any steps to bring this officer back from England to answer these grave charges?

Mr. Cameron to ask the Colonial Secretary,—Did the Commandant notify to Mr. Bamford that he was to apply for permission in case he desired to serve as a gunner; and, if so, on what date was the notification written?

Mr. Piddington to ask the Secretary for Public Works,—When will the plans and specifications for the bridge across the Parramatta River be ready?

Mr. Nelson to move,—That an address be presented to the Governor, praying that his Excellency will be pleased to cause to be laid upon the table of this House copies of all papers, letters, reports, recommendations, and minutes of the Executive Council having reference to the commutation of sentence of the murderer William Stringer, who was tried at Wagga Wagga, and convicted of the murder of James Mitchell, and sentenced to death.

Mr. T. G. Dangar to ask the Secretary for Lands,—1. Is the Government aware that the town of Bingera has no common, and that unless one is soon appropriated there will be no land available? 2. Will any early steps be taken to grant a common to Bingera, of sufficient area, suitable to the requirements of the people?

Stuart, Wheeler, Colin Robinson, J. Rutherford, Brooke, Ewart, M. Rolfe, G. Rolfe, J. Kennedy, R. Kennedy, D. Kennedy, Kennedy, and 22 in the steerage.

The Southern Cross (s.) left Hobart Town at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, passed Twofold Bay at 11 a.m. on Thursday, and arrived in Sydney at 9 a.m. on Friday; experienced moderate northerly weather throughout the passage.

The Ballina (s.) left Sydney at 9 p.m. May 31, and Newcastle at 9 a.m. June 1; arrived in Port Macquarie at daylight 2nd instant, left again at 8 a.m., and arrived in the Macleay River at 1 p.m. same day; left Macleay River at 5 p.m. June 3, and arrived in Sydney at 9 p.m. 4th instant. Experienced light S.W. breezes, with light rain and cloudy weather. The Ballina's cargo consists of 1742 bags maize, 90 hides, 7 casks pork, 11 cases eggs, 3 coops fowls, 25 mats sugar, 12 horses, and a quantity of sundries.

The iron ship Loch Fleet, as smart a looking clipper as a seaman's eye would wish to rest on, arrived yesterday from Liverpool. She has come into port in excellent order, and has made a capital passage of 80 days from Tuscar. Captain Robertson, although his first command, has proved by his passage what a smart vessel, combined with good judgment, can accomplish. She brings a full cargo, consisting of iron, beer and salt, and is on a deep draft. This, combined with a more than ordinary prevalence of adverse wind, will still go to prove the sailing qualities of the ship. With respect to the outward voyage, we learn that the Loch Fleet left Liverpool on the 13th, and passed Tuscar on 16th March, with the wind from N.E., but light. The trades north of the Equator (which was crossed on the 3rd April in longitude 26° W.), proved good, but the S.E. trades came in very light and variable. The meridian of the Cape of Good Hope was crossed on the 25th April in latitude 39° S., and she ran down her easting on a mean parallel of latitude 43° S., with the wind varying from N.E. round to W. Rounded the S.W. Cape of Tasmania on the 29th May, and since then the wind has been baffling from N. to N.E., with occasional flaws from the W. and S.W.

To those who will do that which they are forbidden to do.—It appears, from an advertisement in another part of our columns, that some evil-disposed persons have again commenced the practice of taking books from the Free Library. As a caution to the offenders it will be seen, on reference to our issue of the 15th June, 1874, that a man was caught last year in the act of taking books from the Library, and received for the offence six months in Darlinghurst gaol. It may be desirable for those who are now acting contrary to the rules of the institution to consider the penalty to which they render themselves liable.

Epps's Cocoa.—Grateful and Comforting.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. In packets and tins (tins are better), ½ and 1 lb.) Each packet is labelled—"James Epps and Co., homœopathic chemists, London." Manufacture of Cocoa.—"We will now give an account of the process adopted by James Epps and Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works, in the Euston Road, London."—See article in Cassell's Household Guide.—Adv.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

SATURDAY, JUNE 5, 1875.

In the Legislative Assembly, yesterday,

Ministers, in answer to questions, stated: 1. That 150 copies of a work, called the "Industrial Progress of New South Wales," were sent by the Government to England between April, 1871, and November, 1872; and 50,005 copies of Mr. Charles Robinson's work, entitled "New South Wales, the oldest and richest of the Australian Colonies," were sent home in 1873. The Government has no information as to the disposal of these books. 2. That a man named F. Walters selected, in November, 1873, certain blocks of land under the 22nd section of the Crown Lands Occupation Act of 1861. [The Minister answered in detail six other questions in further reference to this selection of land by F. Walters.] 3. That a person named T. Shalvey, in the early part of this year, selected a certain portion of land under the 13th section of the Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861. [The Minister answered three more questions in further reference to this selection of land by T. Shalvey.] 4. That steps have been taken towards the establishing of a Public school at Cow Flat, and that the Council of Education is still in correspondence with Mr. S. H. Gannon respecting that school. 5. That the Minister for Works is aware that there is an offensive deposit on the foreshore at Rushcutter Bay, and desires to state that this is one of the places the Government intend to reclaim as soon as possible. 6. That Mr. Bamford's removal from the Volunteer force appears to have been a necessary consequence of his removal from the command of the 8th Battery. The Commandant acted upon the authority of the Government in the matter.

Mr. Buchanan moved the adjournment of the House, with a view to calling attention to a list of the special jurors at Bathurst. These jurors—fifteen in number—were, for the most part, either directly related to each other, or connected by marriage. He considered that this was a most undesirable circumstance, and argued that such a state of things was unfavourable to the due administration of justice. The names of several gentlemen were read by the hon. member and remarked upon as "the special jurors at Bathurst." He considered it highly unseemly that brothers should ever sit together as special jurors.

On this a debate ensued, in which Mr. Cameron, Mr. Meyer, Mr. Hill, Mr. Piddington, Mr. W. Forster, Mr. Driver, Mr. W. H. Suttor, and Mr. H. C. Dangar took part. Ultimately, Mr. Buchanan having replied, disclaiming any idea whatever of making personal reflections on the gentlemen referred to, the motion was put, and negatived.

Mr. Garrett laid on the table of the House abstracts of Crown lands reserved from sale for public purposes.

Mr. Davies (on behalf of Mr. Dibbs) moved for a return of attendance at all schools under the Council of Education.

Motion put and agreed to.

Mr. Davies moved for copies of correspondence relating to charges made against Mr. Justilius, the schoolmaster at Emu Plains.

Motion put and agreed to.

The following petitions were ordered to be printed:—Presented by Mr. Stevens, on the 3rd of June, relative to immigration; by Mr. Burns, on the 3rd of June, relative to immigration; by Mr. Bennett, on the 4th of May, relative to Amos Davis; by Mr. Lloyd, on the 3rd of June, against the Railway Refreshment Rooms Bill; by Mr. Driver, on the 3rd of June, from Peter Lecusson.

Mr. Terry moved the second reading of the Dog Act Amendment Bill.

Mr. Nelson objected, as a matter of order, that the bill was one which ought to have been introduced in committee.

The Speaker sustaining the objection, the whole matter dropped.

Mr. Buchanan moved the second reading of the Divorce Bill, and spoke in support of that measure. The principle of the bill was, that desertion for four years and upwards (by either husband or wife) should constitute a just and valid ground for divorce.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The bill was read a second time.

The House then went into committee upon the bill.

After a considerable amount of discussion in which Mr. Buchanan, Mr. R. Forster, Mr. Stuart, Mr. W. Watson, and Mr. W. Forster took part, the House was counted out at four minutes past 8; when the House stood adjourned until Monday next, at 4 p.m.

During the debate on the Land Bill on Monday last, Mr. H. C. Dangar is reported to have said, "no amendment of the land law would be made, in all probability, during the next ten years." If so, the colony is to be congratulated upon the success of the honorable member in carrying, against the Government, his most valuable amendment providing for a definite number of payments for all future sales under conditional purchase. But there are some other radical amendments of the present law quite as much needed as this. We fear the session is too far advanced for them to be incorporated in the bill now passing, and without them we have not the least hope that the measure will satisfy the demands of the country even for a single year.

It has been already proved to demonstration that the Act of 1861—as an instrument for promoting agricultural settlement, for which purpose it was specially framed — has completely failed. The number of agricultural occupiers, the area under cultivation, and the annual yield of wheat, the growth of which is a fair test of the bona fides of agricultural settlement, are all smaller in proportion to the population, after fourteen years' trial of the new Act, than before that Act came into force. That the Act has been operative we do not deny; and if it has failed in its chief aim the question is forced upon us, what else has it done, and in what direction does its action tend? This is the question which we propose now to examine, by aid of the best data at our command; and our only regret is that the statistical returns for the colony are not sufficiently accurate, uniform, and complete. We will again produce Mr. Robertson as our witness, because the passing of the Act was largely due to his advocacy; and if he cannot make out a successful case for it, the task would surely be hopeless in the hands of any one else. In the debate of Thursday week he is reported as follows:—"Under the Act of 1861, the man who desires to make a home for himself was allowed certain advantages, because the advantage he was to the country was far above the money he paid, and every penny of that money was spent in improving the means of communication throughout the country. Who could doubt that the present condition of the public revenue had resulted from the competition caused by these free selectors going into the interior and thus improving the value of the public estates? But for them the squatters would not be buying up land as they are doing. It was owing to them that we were enabled to make Sydney almost a free port, to abolish ad valorem duties, and provide for the debentures falling due, which will enable us for the future to borrow money at a lower rate than we could do before. All this had sprung from the settlement of these people upon the estate of the country. The Act of 1861 gave the preference to the man who would reside upon the land and improve it; but this proposal would give the land to the man who had the greatest number of crown pieces. * * * * Honorable members appeared to forget the tremendous advantage these selectors had been to the great pastoral interests of our country."

Now there is a strange inconsistency in this passage which we are compelled to notice before proceeding to our main purpose. The benefit accruing to the colony under the Act is represented in one place as being due to the personal residence and improvements of the agricultural settlers, for which reason they were to have certain advantages not offered to the capitalist; and in another place it is ascribed to the necessity which the competition of these settlers imposed upon the squatters to buy land which otherwise they would have preferred to rent. Thus the necessities of the squatter have forced him to seek the special advantages which were not intended for him. Surely we need no other proof that the Act proposed one thing, and has accomplished the very reverse. What an audacious special pleader Mr. Robertson must be, thus openly to confess his defeat, and then display that defeat as a trophy of victory. We will pass by his inconsistencies, however, and proceed to apply a better test—that of the inexorable logic of facts.

From 1852 to 1861 the average annual sales of land were at the rate of ·416 of an acre per head of the population, and the average price was £1 15s. 7d. per acre. From 1862 to 1873, the sales not under conditional purchase were at the rate of ·291 of an acre per head—very little more than half the former rate; and the price for all lands so sold averaged £1 4s. per acre, a decrease of one-third of the average price during the previous decade. But for the same period the sales under conditional purchase were at the rate of ·907 of an acre per head; and the price, after deducting the value of the three years' interest allowed on such purchases, cannot be taken at more than 17s. 9d. per acre. To deduct this value of deferred interest is perfectly fair, because the State is a borrower to the extent of three times the amount of the balances owing; and these balances, if paid, would have been available either for reducing the public debt or preventing the contraction of new loans. Combining the two forms of sale, we find that during the twelve years under review, we have been alienating the Crown lands at three times the rate prevailing during the previous decade; and for the last year the rate of alienation has been increased sixfold. But the average price realized by the State has been only 19s. 3d. per acre, under both forms of sale, against £1 15s. 7d. in the previous decade.

Now, what class of settlers is it which has received these "substantial benefits?" We have proved in a previous article that it cannot be the agriculturists; because we have fewer occupiers of this class, and both a narrower area of cultivation, and a smaller average of production than in 1861. It follows that the pastoral interest has reaped the benefit of our special land legislation, as in fact Mr. Robertson virtually admitted when he said "but for the free-selectors the squatters would not be buying up land as they are doing." Can we be surprised that when they can buy land now at an average price of 19s. 3d. per acre, for which fourteen years ago they had to pay £1 15s. 7d., they find it profitable to buy the best part of their runs rather than be driven away by the free selectors?

But we need not rely on general statements when we can apply the test of actual facts. In 1861 our total live stock averaged 23 head for each inhabitant of the colony. In 1873 the proportion had risen to the number of 41 for each inhabitant. Here we have positive evidence, that while agriculture has declined relatively to the population, our pastoral industry has been nearly doubled in value. The same thing is evident from another point of view. Just as the growth of wheat may be taken as a test of the success of agricultural settlement, so the growth of wool in this colony may be taken as a test of the success of pastoral pursuits. In 1861 our export of wool was at the rate of 35½ lbs. per head of the population. In 1873 it was 56½ lbs. per head, excluding in both cases the overland traffic. Taking the years for which we took account of this traffic, and including these returns, we find that from 1864 to 1866 the average annual export of wool was at the rate of 75 lbs. per head; and from 1869 to 1872 this export had risen to the rate of 105 lbs. per head. What further proof do we require of the fact that while the Act of 1861 professed to do one thing, it has done exactly the opposite. It has increased the rate of land sales sixfold, but it has reduced the price of land by one-third of the former value, and the effect of this reduction has not been to promote agriculture, but on the contrary, has both compelled and enabled the pastoral tenants to become landowners against their wishes. For them certainly conditional purchase was not intended; and yet theirs is the only industry which conditional purchase has promoted during a trial of fourteen years.

There is one more statement of Mr. Robertson's which we are compelled to challenge. "We had wrongly been charged with living on the public estate." Why so? Because we have left the balance of 75 per cent. on conditional sales unpaid. Does it follow that if these balances had been paid, we must of necessity have spent them in saving ourselves from taxation? Because we were prevented from wasting all, does it follow that we have wasted none? This, also, is a matter which admits of a rigorous test. In 1861, our land revenue was at the rate of £1 1s. 5d per head of the population, and our taxation at the rate of £2 5s. per head. In 1874 our land revenue was at the rate of £2 9s. 2d. per head, and our taxation £2 3s. In the interval, our public debt has risen from three and a half millions to ten and a half millions—an increase larger than the whole capital invested in our railways. In the face of these facts, who can maintain that we have not been living upon the public estate, and more largely under the new Act than before?

Let it not be supposed that we are deprecating the growth of our pastoral industry, for as long as it can be made the most remunerative, so long capital will gravitate in its direction. But to secure its prosperity we have no need to sacrifice the public estate. As a rule these tenants of the Crown have no intention of forming permanent settlements on their runs; and if they purchase land it is because they cannot obtain security of tenure on any other terms. Till we really want their runs for some more permanent use they are the best occupiers we can obtain, and till then what is best for them is best for us. The effect of all the facts we have submitted is evidently to show that we never can succeed in settling a genuine agricultural class upon the soil and enable them to prosper in their calling as long as we scatter so small a population as ours indiscriminately over so vast a territory. In our circumstances, free-selection before survey, with no classification of lands, and no limitation to suitable districts, is the greatest mistake ever made in the legislation of New South Wales. With a large and continuous stream of immigration, it might have succeeded; but with an annual increase of only about five per cent., and even that increase tending still more largely to accumulate in the capital, it is a perfect farce to pretend to keep up the cumbrous machinery of our Land Acts as a means of settling agriculturists upon the soil. Our two hundred million acres will be comparatively worthless for anything but wool growing, until we get human hands to work them, and human mouths near enough to be fed by their produce. The sooner we are able to do that the better; but till then, at least, let us make the best of such resources as we have, by giving every legitimate industry fair play and no favour; because favour to one is injustice to others, and they will all thrive best by standing on their own merits.

While we were justly congratulating ourselves, the other day, on the noble sacrifices in the great cause of public education made in our own and in adjoining colonies by citizens who were ambitious of associating their names with our great educational foundations, a venerable Englishman was celebrating his eightieth birthday in Birmingham by laying the foundation-stone of a scientific college, the cost and endowment of which, to be defrayed out of his own pocket, will exceed the sum of one hundred thousand pounds. Of all the privileges and pleasures of wealth, assuredly the highest and the purest must be experienced by those who devote their means to purposes so lofty, and to the attainment of objects of such incalculable importance to society. While it cannot be denied that every great accumulation of wealth, employed only for the selfish gratification of the person who has amassed it, or for the idle and frivolous use of it by those who are intellectually and morally incapable of recognising the responsibilities of its possession, is an argument for those theorists whose fundamental maxim it is that property is theft, it is equally true that an enlightened use of splendid fortune is one of the great conservative forces of modern society. And it is certainly not the least hopeful sign of England's healthy moral condition, that at no period of her history was the conviction of the nothingness of mere wealth, compared with the supremacy of culture, more vividly and practically realized by her most distinguished citizens than it is in these days. If industry and ingenuity are now splendidly rewarded by mankind, the world reaps the benefit of success by the munificence of those who attain it; and the man who might build a palace for his own vain glory, erects a college for the perpetuation in the noblest way of his own memory, and for the diffusion on all sides, through generations, of blessings which no arithmetic can estimate, and no caprice can limit. While his foundation lasts, it serves to increase the grandeur and guard the liberties of his country, for it is "by the soul only the nations

"shall be great and free." And it serves as a fortress of those principles upon the maintenance of which the peace of all civilized societies depends. In a memoir just published of a man who, whether for good or evil, was one of the most conspicuous disturbers of the peace of Europe in late times—GIUSEPPE MAZZINI—a strange admission of this truth appears. He is courageously combating the communistic and socialistic theories of the political dreamers who address themselves to the reconstruction of the world, and not to the intellectual improvement of the individual. And he speaks thus:—"It is an educational problem with which we have to do; it is to regenerate man in his ideas and in his sentiments; it is to elevate and enlarge the sphere of his life. And it is in the forgetfulness of this idea that the vital error of the communist lies; as well as of all the sects wrongfully called—as if the principle of association did not belong to all democracy—Socialists. They take for the subject of their studies and their efforts the world, and not the man; the house and not the living being who must inhabit it. They patch, plaster, or rebuild. Our habitation—the universe—they say, is badly furnished, badly arranged; too much air enters on one side, too little on the other; there is too much embellishment above; too much nakedness below; we will do better. And they set to work, each with his design—his programme. They raise, with the stroke of a wand, sumptuous palaces, magnificent parks; galleries which enchant the eyes. Alas, alas! for whom do you build all that? It may be that I admire your galleries; but where is the artist's soul who will derive his advantage from them? Your parks are, perhaps, in the newest taste; but the savage whom you are going to place there will destroy their beauty in the twinkling of an eye." It is well that there are some who are sensible of the great truth embodied in the language of the Italian revolutionist; and who are doing their best for the intellectual elevation of their fellow-creatures.

SIR JOSIAH MASON, the founder of the Erdington Orphanage, on Tuesday, February 23rd, laid the foundation stone of his new college, in the capital of the Midland district. It is intended that the teaching of this institution shall comprise courses of instruction in mathematics, abstruse and applied; physics, both mathematical and experimental; chemistry, theoretical, practical, and applied; the natural sciences, especially geology and mineralogy, with their application to mines and metallurgy; botany and geology, with special application to manufactures; physiology, with special reference to the laws of health; and the English, French, and German languages. Popular or unsystematic instruction may be given gratuitously, or by fees, in the discretion of the trustees, and shall be open to all persons, without distinction of age, class, creed, race, or sex. Such is a brief outline of the great work recently undertaken in the mother-country by a man who has passed the allotted period of human life—who has been the creator of his own splendid fortune—who has preserved through life a child-like simplicity and a womanly tenderness of nature—who has not only remained unspoiled by success, but has made his wealth a source of countless blessings for his country. In the modest address written by him, and read for him, at the ceremonial (for his feebleness prevented him from reading it himself), he alludes with affecting simplicity to his life; and to what he has been, under heaven, enabled to accomplish. "Before," he says, "I could take in hand the foundation of this college, I had another work to do. I always had a great desire to do some deed of love for the poor and helpless; and, therefore, my first care was to make provision for the aged and the orphans. This I was enabled to do by founding the orphanage and alms-houses at Erdington; and this being done, I was at liberty to turn my attention to the prospect of the college." It is a sure and noble way to keep a memory green—to preserve to the most distant times the image of a virtuous life, when it is cherished by the gratitude of orphans and of succeeding generations of students—associated it may be with inventions that minister to human happiness, and discoveries that enlarge the circle of human knowledge and mitigate the sufferings of mankind. Those great pontiffs were regarded as munificent patrons of art, who desired to immortalize their memories by invoking the genius of MICHAEL ANGELO to build their sepulchres. But assuredly the ambition of those great princes was not so lofty as that of this self-taught and self-made Birmingham manufacturer, who will sleep amidst the silent benedictions of poor scholars, and the heartfelt gratitude of generations of his countrymen.

EXTENSION OF THE RAILWAY INTO SYDNEY.—We understand that the Engineer-in-Chief for Railways has completed a scheme for bringing the railway into the city, and we hope that, in the interests not only of Sydney and its suburbs but of the whole colony, the Government will not be long before they carry out the work. The extension cannot, we imagine, be much longer delayed. It must be undertaken sooner or later, and at no time can it be done more cheaply and with a greater chance of prospective profit than at the present. Mr. Whitton's proposal will interfere as little as possible with private property; and the route which he recommends has the advantage of being straight and level. If his plan be adopted, the line will cross Devonshire-street, and pass through what is for all practical purposes public property until it is brought to Goulburn-street. Belmore Garden will not really be interfered with, for the rails will be carried over iron viaducts or stone arches across the corner immediately at the back of the Scots Church. The viaducts will also be continued across the Belmore Markets to Goulburn-street where the line will enter a tunnel, and proceed underground below Castlereagh-street all the way to King-street, at which point it will emerge into the terminal station. The proposed site for the station will begin at the north-west corner of King and Castlereagh streets, extending northwards on the west side of Castlereagh-street nearly to Hunter-street. The only private property which therefore would have to be resumed is that along the western side of Castlereagh-street, say from Market-street to Hunter-street. The land between Market and King streets is occupied chiefly by such factories and buildings which are of no great value; and after the completion of the line the ground between Market and King streets could be reserved, and leave the Government a handsome profit on the transaction. The only street which under this plan would have to be permanently closed is a small portion of Goulburn-street; the closing of Castlereagh-street merely being requisite while the railway is in course of construction. No doubt the first cost of the line would represent a considerable amount; but this extension would bring the railway within the reach of the great mass of the population, and the increased traffic would yield a splendid interest upon the outlay. Indeed, it is reasonable to expect that before long the profit of working the line would repay the total cost of construction. The Redfern terminus is now practically beyond the reach of the bulk of the population; but if the rail were brought into Sydney, there are thousands of persons who now travel by omnibuses who would avail themselves of this means of locomotion to-morrow.

PRESENTATION.—A telegram has been forwarded to us from Grafton, stating that the members of the Grafton Boating Association presented an address to Mr. E. J. M'Carthy, late manager of the Bank of New South Wales there, on the occasion of his leaving Grafton, and afterwards entertained him at a champagne lunch at Belmont's Hotel. A public address was afterwards presented by the Mayor at Crer's Hotel, and his and Mrs. M'Carthy's health enthusiastically received.

DEFERRED PAYMENTS.—In accepting Mr. Garrett's clause in lieu of Mr. Dangar's, providing for the payment of balances on land purchased, the Assembly seems to have been of opinion that the actual amounts paid would have been the same in both. But is this the case? A correspondent, to whose letter we direct attention, has pointed out that the House allowed itself to be too easily led by the Minister, and that the substituted proposal is tantamount to an abandonment of a considerable revenue.

DISTRICT COURT.—Monday, 7th June.—Causes: Allen v. Newell, Smith v. Kenney, Smith v. England, Noonan v. Walter, Wilberforce v. Thompson, Hebblewhite v. Smith, Selig and another v. Levi, Larcombe v. Swinburne, Larcombe v. M'Carthy, Murray v. Moss, Nowland v. Eldridge, Roney v. Sharpe, Macgregor v. Black, Halstead v. Clarke, Mansfield v. Morris, Green v. Carberry, Duffin and another v. Woolnough and another, Cox v. Mills, Grogan v. Livingston, Tarran v. Wilson, Fletcher v. Abrahams, Phillips v. Loneian, Huntley v. Campbell, Sutton v. Shaw.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.—We are informed that the Hon. John Robertson was yesterday pronounced much better by his medical advisers, though still too ill to leave the Reform Club. We believe the hon. gentleman has had an attack of bronchitis, as well as influenza.

ST. ANDREW'S CATHEDRAL.—The following is the order of musical service for Sunday, June 6:—Cantate, G. A. Macfarren; Deus Misereatur, G. A. Macfarren; Anthem, "I will lift up mine eyes," Dr. Clarke Whitfield.

EXEMPTIONS FROM THE JURY LIST.—There is hardly, if ever, a jury empanelled at the Court of Quarter Sessions, without some of the jurors coming forward, and offering to the Judge proof, that, being in the Volunteer force, they were not liable to serve on a jury, and therefore should not have been summoned. The Crown Prosecutor yesterday morning suggested that those who believed themselves to be exempt from serving on the jury should hand in their proofs to the Sheriff, so that if they were approved of they might in future be exempted, and so that the trouble need not be taken of summoning persons who could not be required to sit as jurors. His Honor believed that it would be as well if this were done; for by such means trouble would be avoided and time saved.

PHILADELPHIA AND MELBOURNE EXHIBITIONS COMMISSION.—The members of the Committee on Arts, Manufactures, &c., have held two meetings at which there were present—Mr. Benjamin Palmer (the Mayor of Sydney), Mr. Archibald Thompson, Mr. J. R. Fairfax, Mr. Edward Knox, Mr. William Wallis, Mr. Robert Adams, and Mr. John Woods. The Committee determined to invite the winegrowers of the colony to send samples of their wines to Melbourne and Philadelphia; and the quantity to be asked for was fixed at six bottles of each description of wine shown for the Melbourne Exhibition, and twelve bottles of each kind sent to Philadelphia. This, of course, will be irrespective of the samples which will be required by the Commissioners for testing purposes in Sydney, it being considered expedient to ascertain the quality of the wines here before forwarding them on to their respective destinations. The quantity of beer which may be sent was limited to one hogshead or two barrels of draught ale, and one dozen bottles of beer and stout respectively. Mr. Bray's proposal to forward photographs of his lepidopteral collection was accepted. Mr. Palmer reported that Messrs. Hudson Brothers would forward specimens of colonial wood and workmanship in cabinet work; and that Messrs. Alderson and other tanners would furnish exhibits in their department of industry. A letter was read from Mr. Du Faur submitting the names of colonial artists who might be asked to exhibit pictures, and offering some valuable suggestions in regard to obtaining photographs of scenery on the Blue Mountains. The meeting adjourned until Friday next at 2.30 p.m.

LIQUID GLASS.—We were yesterday shown a specimen of what is termed "liquid glass," and which is intended to be employed in lieu of paint for houses. The instructions for its application are as follows: No. 1 liquid is to be used first, and put on with an ordinary paint brush, care being taken that every part of the stone, brick, cement, or wood is covered. It should then be allowed to dry for six hours, when No. 2 liquid may be applied in a similar manner. If desired, any colouring matter, such as umber, ochre, &c., may be mixed with both liquids. The brushes must be washed after using either liquid. It should, however, only be applied in fine weather, when the walls are dry. Among the several advantages claimed for this liquid glass is that it prevents the ravages of the white ant in wood buildings. It has not as yet been put to very severe tests, but a gentleman residing at North Shore speaks very highly of it, having had his house painted with it, and the results, so far, have been satisfactory. After No. 1 liquid is put on, it must be allowed to dry before No. 2 is added, when, after a time, they will combine, as it were, by a process of coagulation and form a hard substance as durable perhaps, as the stone to which it has been applied. The mixture, it is said, is not likely to be rubbed off by the rain or effect of the weather, because it penetrates into the pores of the stone, and there solidifies. The specific gravity of the two liquids is almost the same, although they are made of different substances. A patent has been obtained here for the liquid glass which is manufactured by the St. George's Chemical Works Company, at Neutral Bay, the works being superintended by Mr. Patrick Hayes.

WILLOUGHBY AND GORDON.—An adjourned public meeting of the residents of Willoughby and Gordon, was held on Wednesday evening, at the building known as the Bush Mission Chapel, Lane Cove-road, to make preliminary arrangements for giving a suitable public acknowledgment to Mr. Alderman Richard Seldon, for the exertions made by him in reference to the so-called Lane Cove-road. Mr. James Forsyth, Mayor of North Willoughby, was unanimously voted into the chair, and the meeting adopted an address for presentation to Mr. Seldon, whose services were spoken of in very eulogistic terms.

THE COUNTRY TOWNS' POLICE ACT.—It may be in the recollection of our readers that about a fortnight since Mr. Gannon objected to the jurisdiction of the justices at the Central Police Court—or, rather contended that they had no jurisdiction—in prosecutions for offences against the Country Towns Police Act. The case before the Court was, that one Martin was charged by acting sub-inspector Rush with an offence against the Country Towns' Police Act by casting nightsoil near to a public thoroughfare. Mr. Gannon contended that the offender must be taken before the Justices of the town in which the offence was alleged to have been committed—that of Marrickville—who only are empowered by the Act to hear and determine such matters. The Bench, consisting of Messrs. Oatley, Baily and Holborow, postponed the hearing of the information, which was again called on yesterday. Mr. Oatley said that he had availed himself of the opportunity not only of personally looking into the several police Acts in force, but had also put himself into communication with hon. the Minister of Justice and Public Instruction, requesting to be furnished with the opinion of the Attorney-General upon the point. That officer, with his usual kindness, had given a written reply to the following effect:—"By the Act 32 Victoria, No. 7, so much of 19 Victoria, No. 24 as was then in force within certain towns and places was extended, and applied to all parts of the colony, but did not extend the Act 2 Victoria, No. 2. It is immaterial to consider, for the purposes of this matter, whether the effect of 32 Victoria, No. 7, by extending 19 Victoria, No. 24, was by implication to extend 2 Victoria, No. 2, as Marrickville appears to have been brought under the last-mentioned Act by proclamation. With respect to offences under 2 Victoria No. 2, in sections 33, 34, and in one or two of the following sections, it appears that the Legislature contemplated that the offenders should be dealt with by the Justices in the towns against the peace and good government of which the offences were committed; and that it was intended to have those matters of purely local interest determined by a local Bench; but the requisite machinery for carrying out this Act does not exist. He (the hon. the Attorney-General) was of opinion that the punishment for these offences can only be inflicted by Justices of the Peace within the town in which the offences have been committed. The information of Rush v. Martin must on this ground—the want of jurisdiction—be dismissed;" and he (Mr. Oatley) dismissed it accordingly. Two other similar informations were withdrawn by Mr. Rush. Messrs. Gannon and Roberts said that the municipalities have in their own hands, by passing a by-law, to procure a means of punishing persons offending as these defendants have been alleged to offend.

THE GOTHENBURG RELIEF FUND.—The members of the Gothenburg Relief Committee held a meeting on Monday at the Town Hall, for the purpose of deciding upon a scheme for the distribution of the money collected. The Mayor occupied the chair. The secretary stated that the total amount of the fund was £4501 11s. 4d. It was unanimously decided that Mrs. Tyrrell, widow of one of the firemen, should participate in the division of the fund. It was also decided that the four children of another fireman named Flegg—although these are now living in New Zealand—should receive some relief from the amount collected. This made a total of 12 widows and 42 children to be relieved. After some discussion, it was proposed by Mr. Love, and seconded by the Mayor, that every widow should receive the same sum. An amendment was moved by Mr. H. Selwyn Smith to the effect that, in any division of the fund among the widows, regard should be had to the position occupied by their late husbands. Upon being put to the meeting, the amendment was carried by a large majority. It was then resolved that the amount collected should be divided into two, one portion for the widows and the other for the children. The scale of distribution next occupied the committee for some time, but ultimately it was decided that the widows of the captain, chief officer, first and second engineers should each receive four shares and the other widows three shares each. This would give about £200 each for the first four, and £150 each for the others. With reference to the children, it was stated that there were 26 under six years of age, eight under 12 years of age, and eight over 12 years of age. It was resolved, upon the motion of Mr. Lawrence, that all children under six years of age should receive four shares, those over six years and under twelve years three shares, and those over twelve years of age two shares. Each share will be about £14, so that children under six years of age will receive about £56, children over six years of age and under twelve years will receive about £42, and children over twelve years will receive about £28.

TESTIMONIAL TO MR. PLIMSOLL.—In replying to an address and testimonial given to him for his eminent services in improving the condition of those who "Go down to the sea in ships," Mr. Plimsoll stated that the cost of the movement had been £13,000, out of which £10,000 had been received in subscriptions.

MR. FRANCIS AND VICTORIA IN THE BACKGROUND.—By the mail letters were received by the Premier, Mr. Kerferd, from the Hon. J. G. Francis, in which he states that his health was much improved by the voyage, but that the cold weather in England did not at all agree with him. He finds that the cold affects his lungs, and threatens to produce a return of the old symptoms. The hon gentleman evinces a warm interest in the fortunes of Victoria, and the Argus states:—"He mentions one significant fact which strongly impressed itself upon his mind, viz., that while no opportunity is lost of directing public attention to the other Australasian colonies, more especially to New South Wales and New Zealand, Victoria is allowed to remain completely in the background."

TRUTH STRANGER THAN FICTION.—The Newcastle Chronicle says:—About a week or two since, a person sent his son, a young lad, to the office of the postmaster, within 100 miles of Newcastle, to obtain a Post-office order for £6 odd, giving the lad a £5-note, a £1-note, and some silver. The postmaster's assistant gave the lad an order for £2 odd, which the lad put in the letter given him by his father, and posted it. A day or two after, the father—having received an acknowledgment of the order for £2 odd—went to the postmaster for an explanation, but he knew nothing of the matter, beyond having received two notes from his assistant. The party then gave the postmaster the number of the notes and the bank, and the postmaster handed him £4. Now comes the extraordinary part of the story. The day after the postmaster paid back the £4, a person came for an order for £2, handing the postmaster two notes, and on looking at them the postmaster found one was a £5-note, and told the person so, who would not believe it, and could not be persuaded of the fact. On closer examination it was found to be the £5-note missing. On inquiry the person who brought it to the office said he had received it as a £1-note, the day before, from the wife of the postmaster, and such in fact was the case; in the absence of the postmaster, his wife had gone to the drawer, and had taken out this note as a £1-note, and had paid it away as above mentioned.

INDIGNITY TO THE BRITISH FLAG.—During the proceedings of the Adelaide City Council on the 26th instant, a lengthy and animated discussion took place relative to Mr. A. O. Chambers's conduct in displaying the United States stars and stripes above or in front of the Union Jack upon a pole affixed to the balcony of the Town Hall, on the occasion of a Good Templar demonstration to welcome Mr. Hastings. A vote of censure, which was, as a Councillor remarked, sufficiently "hot and strong," if indeed it was not a good deal too much so, was cordially supported by all the members, and the corporation showed a fixed determination to preserve from indignity the flag that has "braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze." In this we commend their spirit, and consider that Mr. Chambers, in reference to what occurred, decidedly owes that apology to his fellow-colonists which he tenders in an explanatory letter published elsewhere. Probably the citizens generally will consider it unfortunate that no patriotic councillor chanced to see the obnoxious piece of bunting just at the right moment, as the sight of an irate guardian of the people's rights tearing the American flag to ribbons, or incontinently pulling it down and burning it on the spot, would have been an impressive spectacle. It was decided that Mr. Chambers be not allowed access in future to the balcony, and the porter was specially instructed to hold himself responsible for the use of the flags on all similar occasions. The Councillors are quite right to protest against what took place, and to give orders to their officer to see that such matters are ordered decently in future, but it would have been well if they had infused a little more dignity into their proceedings. The discussion reads more like a burlesque than a grave debate, and the determination to exclude the offender from the balcony is very petty.—S. A. Register.

CHINESE IN COURT.—The difficulty of dealing with the Chinese was shown, says the Melbourne Argus of Tuesday, at the City Police Court. In some cases in which Mr. Evans, the Corporation revenue inspector, summoned five Mongolians for selling liquor without a license. When the first name on the list, "Quon Hang Shin," was called, no one appeared, and Mr. R. Walsh, who appeared for the defence, said there was no such person. Mr. Evans said he would like to know for whom Mr Walsh appeared, if that were the case. Mr. Walsh said he had a right to appear. Mr. Evans deposed that he called at 130, Little Bourke-street, where the name "Quon Hang Shin" was written on the door, and served the summons on a Chinaman whom he had seen in court that (yesterday) morning. He called a young man named Hutton, who speaks the Chinese language, and who stated that "Quong Han Shin" was the name, not of any particular person, but of a firm, and that all the members of the firm might go by that name. Mr. Sturt, P.M., said he would dismiss the case, as there was no evidence that the proper person had been served with the summons. Mr. Evans then withdrew the other four cases, and said he would take out fresh summonses against all the defendants.

ACCIDENT.—About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a labourer named Samuel Carroll met with an accident whilst employed at the new building in course of erection at the corner of Bridge and Macquarie streets. He was going up a ladder which was too short, and when about to get on to a scaffold, he overreached himself and fell to the ground, a distance of 10 or 11 feet. He was taken to the Infirmary, where, on his admission, it was found he had sustained severe bruises.

RYDE, GLADESVILLE, AND HUNTER'S HILL.—A correspondent says that many persons living on the Parramatta River would be glad to learn if ever anything more is likely to be done with regard to the much-talked-of and much more needed bridges; so that three townships may not altogether dwindle away, as at present. "We might as well, or better (he says), be on the coast, so uncertain and unsatisfactory is the communication with Sydney."

FITZROY CRICKET CLUB.—On Tuesday evening last the Fitzroy Cricket Club celebrated the close of the season by giving a dinner and an evening party, at the New Oddfellows Hall, Brisbane-street. Between sixty and seventy ladies and gentlemen were present. The dinner, served by Compagnoni, was excellent,—the viands, and the decoration of the room, leaving nothing to be desired. Mr. G. M'Clenahan, president of the Fitzroy C. C., occupied the chair, and Mr. J. J. Lawler the vice-chair. After the repast had been concluded the chairman proposed, "The Queen and the Royal family," "His Excellency the Governor," and "The Parliament of New South Wales." "The Press," and other toasts were also proposed, and responded to. The chairman then presented to Mr. John Gibb a silver cup, for his earnest attention to the above club during the season 1874-5, also a ball for the highest average bowling for the above season. A bat was also presented to Mr. W. Shoults for the highest average score. The vice-chairman presented to Mr. W. J. M'Clenahan a gold albert, in acknowledgment of his valuable services. Mr. J. Berry was also presented with a bat, for his unremitting attention to the club. Several songs by lady and gentlemen assistants, were very much admired, and the evening was kept up with great spirit.

VICTORIA THEATRE.—Yesterday evening Signora Magi took her benefit to an audience by no means commensurate either with the merits of the performance or the desert of the beneficiaire. The programme comprised "Anna Bolena," of which there was an even rendering; and between the acts Signora Magi sang in English "Please give me a penny, sir" with much archness and expression, eliciting a unanimous and enthusiastic encore. Signor Pompei and Signor Baldassari also sang the duetto from "Don Pasquale" with marked success. To-night Meyerbeer's "Il Profeta" is to be produced, with Signor Roenati as Giovanni di Leyden.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—During the week "Little Nell and the Marchioness" has commanded large audiences. The play has evidently and deservedly taken a strong hold upon popular favour. Last night, despite the unpropitiousness of the weather, the attendance was very good.

SCHOOL OF ARTS.—The "Royal Marionettes" still maintain their popularity with the public. No change of programme has as yet been considered necessary; a significant token of the sterling success that has been achieved.

THE KENNEDY FAMILY.—The entertainment given by the above popular corps of Scotch vocalists and delineators of Scotch characters, at the Masonic Hall, was brought to a conclusion last night, with success. The Kennedy family, during their visits to this city, have not only secured the patronage of the citizens, for their excellent concerts, but also their most cordial esteem. Scotchmen and others not of that country have of course been delighted with the songs they have sung and the manner in which they have sung them; the stories which Mr. David Kennedy has told, and the manner in which he has narrated them. On Thursday night, at the close of the concert at the Masonic Hall, before "Auld Lang Syne" was sung, Mr. David M'Beath, president of the St. Andrew's Scottish Benevolent Society, stepped forward, and on behalf of the office-bearers and members of that society read an address to Mr. David Kennedy, which had been beautifully illuminated by Fitzjohn Hall. This address, in the expressions of which it was evident that the whole audience, which included officers and members of the Duke of Edinburgh Highlanders in full uniform, most heartily joined, spoke of their feelings of regret that his family was about to leave them, and their appreciation of his high attainments as a vocalist and delineator of Scottish life and character, the remembrance of which would continue long after he had left them. Thanks were then expressed for the handsome manner in which Mr. Kennedy had devoted the entire proceeds of a benefit to their society. In conclusion the members of St. Andrew's Society wished Mr. David Kennedy, his partner in life, and his amiable family a prosperous and pleasant journey. Mr. D. Kennedy responded in a heartfelt manner. St. Andrew's Society presented handsome Bibles to each of the Misses Kennedy bearing suitable inscriptions. Mr. Forbes, of the Council of Education, presented to Mr. Thomas Kennedy, on behalf of a number of his friends, a gold ring set with diamonds and a ruby.

BARON WALDECK.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says that Baron de Waldeck, a painter of considerable reputation, celebrated his 109th birthday in Paris on Tuesday week. Baron de Waldeck works eight or ten hours a day, is in perfect health, and what is more remarkable has a son only 24 years of age.

ERRATA.—In Messrs. Richardson and Wrench's Wool and Produce Circular, in the 10th line, for week, read "month;" and in the 23rd line, for manufactures read "commodities."

NEWCASTLE.

FRIDAY.

A MAN named Williamson was killed at the new tunnel, Wallsend, to-day by the falling of a large limb of a tree. He had only been a fortnight in the district. The body of the youth Spence, who was drowned outside Nobby's a few days ago, was fished up to-day greatly decomposed. Inquests on both bodies will be held.

CARCOAR.

FRIDAY.

Heavy gold was struck yesterday in the Prince of Wales claim, at the Burnt Yards; the reef is 4 feet thick; a ton of stone brought up it is estimated will yield 400 to 500 oz., and the stone in the shaft looks even richer. Great excitement prevails.

BATHURST.

FRIDAY.

A complimentary dinner, in the hall of the School of Arts, was given last night to Mr. James Rutherford previous to his departure for America. The Mayor presided, and the dinner was largely attended.

An inquest was held to-day on the body of John Saunderson, who was found dead yesterday. The jury returned as their verdict that death was caused by congestion of the brain, brought on by intemperance.

Mr. John Lee has supplemented the Stewards' Cup, for the Bathurst Spring meeting, by 150 sovereigns, making a prize of £300.

20,000 tons of breadstuffs were exported up to last Saturday. 35,000 acres of land were selected in May.

COLLISIONS AT NEWCASTLE.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

A COLLISION occurred in harbour on Wednesday morning, which, fortunately, was precluded from being attended with serious consequences. The barque Charmian, while being towed by the Bungaree to her berth at the wharf, was crossed in her route by the steamer Little Nell, which had a punt in tow. The Little Nell cast off the towline of the barge, which, unfortunately, drifted towards the barque, doing considerable damage to the cutwater. Fortunately, the look-out man on board the Bungaree, which was towing the barque, saw the danger and at once reversed the engines and prevented a more serious collision.

On Wednesday night, about a quarter-past 11, another disaster occurred in the harbour. The Kembla and Morpeth were lying at the wharf ready for starting. The Kembla was the first to move, and being ahead of the Morpeth at the wharf gradually swung round first, but a strong ebb-tide caused her to drift towards the bows of the Morpeth. The word was given to go ahead; but, owing to the noise of the engines, and of getting up steam by the Morpeth, the order did not seem to be heard, and the Kembla's starboard quarter came into collision with the bowsprit of the Morpeth. Two of the Kembla's boats were carried away from the davits, partly smashed, and thrown into the harbour. Other damage was done to the Kembla, but the extent could not be ascertained, as that vessel steamed out to sea without stopping a moment after the collision. The Morpeth sustained but little damage, and proceeded to sea shortly after.

CHINESE LOTTERIES IN MELBOURNE.—An instance of the baneful effects of the Chinese lottery upon weak minds came before the City Bench on Friday (says the Argus). A young man named Martin Hanley was charged with stealing drapery to the value of £7 or £8, from his employer, Mr Joseph Britten, draper, Church-street, Richmond. Detective Hartney noticed that the young man was perpetually at the lottery shops in Little Bourke-street, and knowing that he was in Mr. Britten's employment, made inquiries, and ascertained that he had stolen and pawned a considerable amount of his employer's property. Immediately on detection, the man admitted his guilt. He was in receipt of £2 per week and his meals, and had a wife and two young children. In defence, he said that he had never been in the court before. He was sentenced to four months' imprisonment, with hard labour. Inspector Ryall said that he had seen Europeans, from children to old men, at these lottery shops, which did a great deal of harm.

A CASE OF SATI OR SUTTEE, IN INDIA.—The Lucknow Times gives us an account of a case of sati which took place on the 4th instant at the village of Rasulpur, in Tahsil Sandila, in Oudh. The victim of superstition was one Bilasi, the widow of a Brahman named Chota. She was encouraged to commit the deed by her nephew and other relations, though the village authorities attempted to prevent it, and the solitary chaukidar went off to report the matter to the nearest thana, 14 miles distant. "After bathing," says our contemporary, "Bilasi arrayed herself in her best dress and bridal ornaments, and the funeral procession set out for the mashan, or burning place. In addition to the relatives and friends of the deceased, a number of oilmen, chamars, and even Muhammadans, accompanied the victim, carrying the materials for constructing the sacrificial pyre. As a sufficient supply of wood could not be obtained quick enough, dried cow-dung was substituted. A large pile of this being heaped up, Bilasi was seated on it with the corpse of her husband in her lap, she was then buried up to the neck among kandá, or dried cowdung. The whole was then covered with bundles of straw, and Mahá, her nephew, handing a light to the sati, she herself set fire to the pile. The victim is stated to have sat calm and quiet amidst the roaring flames till she died, the pile being reduced to ashes in about three hours. The thanadar reached the scene after all was over, though the chaukidar had used his best dispatch in travelling the fourteen miles between the village and the thana. The District Superintendent of Police and the Deputy Commissioner of the district also hurried to the spot, and all the relatives of the victim, together with the authorities of the village, thirty men in all, have been arrested and committed to the sessions. The other residents declare their profound ignorance of the deed, and either will not or cannot give evidence in the matter."

SALE OF STOCK.—Maiden, Hill, and Co. report having sold, on account of Messrs. M'Donald, Smith, and Co., 1200 store bullocks at a satisfactory price; purchaser, Mr. Richard Hill.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

IF ever New Guinea becomes an integral part of the British Empire, some little share of the credit will be due to New South Wales. It will be to a Sydney resident that the scientific world may be indebted for a revelation of the yet hidden treasures of Papua. Mr. Macleay's expedition, equipped for that purpose, left this port on the 18th ultimo, had a rapid passage to Townsville, and, if equally successful going through Torres Straits, must be now nearing the scene of their labours. It is probable that some of their discoveries may add additional interest to the exhibits intended for the great Exhibition at Philadelphia.

The Commissioners appointed by our Government to make the necessary arrangements for the representation of this colony have entered upon their duties with a zeal auguring well for success.

The political record for the month contains very little of importance save the discussion of the new Land Bill in Committee of the Lower House. The Robertson Ministry, though closely occupied with parliamentary duties, are devoting attention to public works of a reproductive character, and amongst them, the extension of the railway into closer proximity with the business portion of the city.

His Excellency Sir A. Gordon, Governor of Fiji, and suite, arrived here per Torres Straits mail steamer. Governor Gordon leaves for Levuka in H.M.S. Pearl, and the remainder of his party follow in H.M.S. Barracouta.

Commercial affairs have had a temporary disturbance by the failure of four mercantile firms concerned in some joint mining speculations which proved unremunerative. Matters have since assumed their usual aspect, owing to the general soundness of trade.

Some slight delay has taken place with regard to closing tenders for the San Francisco mail service. This has now been arranged, and we hope by next month to hear of the contract being definitely settled.

Mining matters remain in about the same position as when we wrote by last month's mail, except that by telegram from Carcoar the discovery of a rich reef in that district is causing great excitement. The low price ruling in England for tin is to some extent checking production here. This is the cause of a decreased export of that metal. Against this we have the fact that our coal deposits are being worked on a larger scale than in former years, and were it not for the extreme wages paid for labour, our mines would compete with any others for the supplies required in all Eastern and Pacific ports.

CONDITIONAL PURCHASES—DEFERRED PAYMENTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—The Legislative Assembly last night afforded a striking illustration of the truth of Oxenstiern's remark to his son who was about to travel,—"Go forth, my son, and see for yourself with how little wisdom the world is governed." Without any reflection or calculation the House blindly adopted a statement of the Minister for Lands, and, acting on it, has placed the Legislature in a position which jeopardises several millions sterling of the public assets.

Mr. Dangar's clause 6 of the Land Amendment Bill, which was carried some nights ago, was at least intelligible. It proposed that free selectors owing 15s. should pay back 1s. a year for fifteen years and interest on the balance outstanding at the rate of 5 per cent. The payments would thus have commenced at the end of the first year with 1s. 9d., and would have closed at the end of the fifteenth year, with about 1s. 0½d. The objections urged to this plan were:—1. That the payments would vary from year to year; and 2. That the heaviest came at first, when the free selector was presumably least able to pay. Mr. Garrett accordingly proposed that the free selector should pay 1s. per acre per annum for twenty years, which he asserted would at the end of that time extinguish the debt of 15s, with interest on the balance outstanding from time to time, at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum. But Mr. Garrett's calculation is erroneous; 1s. in 15s. is equal precisely to 6⅔ per cent. Now, any schoolboy may take his slate and calculate how much at compound interest will be paid off a debt of £100 by an annual payment of £6 13s. 4d. for twenty years, interest on the capital outstanding being calculated at 5 per cent. At the end of the twentieth payment, about £55 only of the £100 will have been repaid; and it would take, I calculate, nearly 28½ years to extinguish the debt. By a similar calculation it will be found that 1s. per annum for 20 years will have yielded interest on the capital outstanding at the rate of 5 per cent., and will have repaid only 8s. 3d. of the 15s., the balance of which, viz., 6s. 9d.—equal to 45 per cent. of the capital—will, by Mr. Garrett's proposal, be lost to the public. This, in all conscience, is bad enough for the future, but see the position it places us in as regards the past. 6⅔ per cent for 20 years, if it is to extinguish the debt at the end of that time, will only yield interest at the rate of about 3¼ per cent. on the annual balance outstanding during the process. Mr. Garrett's proposal of 1s per acre for 20 years to extinguish the debt of 15s. at the end of that term, will only therefore yield interest at the rate of about 3¼ per cent., and not 5 per cent., as stated by him. And if we are content to accept these terms for the future, how can we in common justice refuse to allow equally liberal terms to the pioneers of the past? Now 9d on 15s is equal to 5 per cent. And an annuity of 5 per cent. on any sum for 30 years, pays interest at the rate of 3½ per cent., and extinguishes the debt at the end of that period. If, therefore, Mr. Garrett's proposal for the future be adopted, you must, I maintain, allow the same terms to existing free-selectors, and enact that payment of 9d. for 30 years shall extinguish the debt. Such a course appears to me to be inevitable; and the practical result of it will be this: that calculating interest at 5 per cent., future free-selectors will pay for their lands, 5s. x 8s. 3d. = 13s. 3d. per acre, and the free-selectors of the past only the 5s. deposit, thus sweeping away at one stroke an asset, under the existing law, of between three and four millions sterling.

The best and fairest arrangement, it seems to me, would be to allow the selectors of the future to pay a shilling an acre for any number of years which will be necessary to extinguish the debt of 15s., with interest at 5 per cent. per annum — a result which will, I think, be effected in about 28 years—and to allow any free-selectors of the past who have simply been paying 9d. an acre, or 5 per cent. interest, without reduction of the debt, to come in under the new plan if they should elect to do so.

Your obedient servant,
CALCULUS.

DELAYS IN THE LAND TITLES DEPARTMENT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—Your correspondent "Touchstone" is quite of the same opinion as that which I have, as to abolishing the Board of Commissioners and making the Examiners of Title directly responsible. I agree with the writer, as I admitted, that there are some defects in the Real Property Act which ought to be amended; but these are defects of principle, whereas the defect to which I called attention, is one of administration. I think if we can succeed in destroying the imperium in imperio, which, like the well-known Council of Ten in Venice, has the same power, though it cannot do the same mischief, we shall succeed for the present.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—Your correspondent "W. S. Wilson" is mistaken in supposing that the "one Baptist" who visited the Public schools for the purpose of imparting religious instruction "was an opponent to the League." From the first, I have been in sympathy with the movement for ridding public education of the trammels of Denominationalism, and have publicly advocated the claims of the League on more than one occasion.

Further, I would state that whilst the suspension of my labours at the Glebe was occasioned by my removal from that district, I should have continued my visits to the Cleveland-street school to this day had proper accommodation been afforded to my class. It was so unusual to have no better place of meeting than the hall, through which there was a constant traffic. For this the courteous head-master was in no wise responsible, the fact being that whilst the Act provided for the visits of clergymen, the Council had either forgotten that, or supposed that the provision would not be availed of.

I would add, that my visits were so timed as not to interfere with the strictly secular teaching of the school, but simultaneously with the hour for scripture lessons. I held once a week my class for more special spiritual instruction.

I think that until the best method is adopted (that advocated by the Bishop of Newcastle) of giving religious instruction in an altogether separate building, and apart from State control, it would be best for the Council of Education to afford fullest facilities in the shape of retired class-rooms for those willing to undertake this important work.

The Loch Fleet, from Liverpool, with a general cargo, valued at £12,400, arrived to-day.

Messrs. Threlkeld and Co. held a sale of liquors, &c., this morning. The only line of any importance placed was 120 casks Guinness's stout by Hibbert, at a low figure. This being mail day, there were no private transactions of any importance. Quotations, as given in our monthly review, remain unaltered.

Business in the Stock and Share market was very dull. The only sales reported were Sydney Exchange at 4¾, and New North Clunes gold at 52.

There was a very limited attendance of buyers at the hide sales this morning. Tanners' operations being checked by the scarcity of bark, there was no improvement in prices. Tallow was also dull; but as there is more inquiry for shipping parcels, private sales are likely to clear the market of a portion of what is on hand. The sales were:—

MINING REPORTS.

Krohmann's G. M. Co.—Under date 2nd June, the mining manager reports as follows:—"In the prospecting cross-cut in the north shaft at the 392-feet level, we have driven 4 feet this week, making the distance in from the shaft 166 feet. We came on to a vein in the face of the drive yesterday, and we will see what it is made of to-day."

Beyers and Holtermann's G. M. Co.—Under date 2nd June, the mining manager reports as follows:—"I have discontinued work in the cross-cut at 334 feet, as I believe we have passed through the easterly belt of veins, and have put the men to continue the cross-cut at 261-feet level, to further prospect the veins that have been worked above. I have worked the backstopes at the 132-feet level, up to the old workings that were worked about five years ago, and I find the vein is only 6 inches thick, but it looks to carry double the quantity of gold that it did where it was 12 inches thick. I am still carrying on the underhand stoping at the 175-feet level. I am also driving on the northern boundary at this level, but have not as yet broken through into the Monte Christo mine, as expected, before driving so long a distance as 10 feet, though I hope to break through this week. Stone raised since last report, 16 tons, making a total quantity at grass 106 tons."

OUR WELLINGTON (N.Z.) LETTER.

May 28.

THE all-absorbing topic of conversation among political quidnuncs is the approaching session of the General Assembly. It is now certain that Mr. Vogel will not be in the colony before September at the very earliest, and indeed his coming at all depends entirely on the state of his health, which has become precarious. This circumstance is extremely embarrassing. Mr. Vogel was out of the colony when Lord Normanby took the oaths of office as Governor, and although nominally at the head of the Government, in reality he has not been sworn in as a member of the Executive. Indeed, with the exception of Mr. Bowen, who was Gazetted to office before he had a seat in either branch of the Legislature, there is none of Lord Normanby's responsible advisers to whom any portfolio has been assigned, although they carry on the work of the departments as formerly. They are simply members of his Excellency's Executive Council, with the single exception of the Minister for Justice. Of course, this exceptional state of things is explained by the fact that Mr. Vogel was absent from the colony on a special mission to England, and that it was necessary to wait for his return before assigning the various departments to the members of the Government. But now that the Executive must meet the Assembly in July without its leader, it will be necessary to complete the arrangements in Mr. Vogel's absence; and as it is conspicuously weak in debating power in the House of Representatives, it is probable that an effort will be made to add to the Government strength in that direction. The necessity for reconstruction is urged by some of the Government supporters, and this certainly would be the wisest course to pursue; while the declared opponents of the Government are confident Ministers must resign. Their resignation or defeat is, however, by no means probable. The present Parliament expires some time during 1875, or early in 1876, and therefore a dissolution is certain by effluxion of time. A weak Government, as the present one undoubtedly is in the absence of Mr. Vogel, could hold office, if so disposed, until after the general election, no matter what might be the strength of the Opposition, because it would be impossible to refuse supplies under the circumstances. I am inclined to think, however, that no attempt will be made to unseat the Government this session—the Opposition will content itself by exposing administrative blunders, with an eye to the general election. The bill of indictment is a tolerably long one, and will include the Land Purchase Department under the Native Minister, the Treasury and Public Works, and Immigration. A strong point will, in all likelihood, be made on the recent judicial appointments, which have not given general satisfaction. It is alleged, with more warmth than truth, that the Government put pressure on Chief Justice Arney and Judges Chapman and Gresson to resign; and the speech of Mr. Justice Gresson at Christchurch, in reply to an address from the Bar, has encouraged the opinion that everything was not quite straight. I am inclined to think that this is a mistake. The appointments do not give general satisfaction, however. Mr. Prendergast, who succeeded Sir George Arney as Chief Justice, it is understood, claimed the appointment in fulfilment of a bargain with Mr. Stafford, while Premier, between 1865 and 1869, by virtue of which agreement also he accepted the Attorney-Generalship as a non-political office, without a seat in the Legislature. He was painstaking, and managed to stand well with every Executive, although his opinions were often challenged by political lawyers. Mr. T. B. Gillies, one of the new Judges, is an old member of the New Zealand Bar. He was at one time Attorney-General with a seat in the Cabinet, and also held office in the Whitaker-Fox Ministry as Postmaster-General. He was the leading Opposition member when Mr. Stafford threw up the sponge in 1873. His absence from Parliament during the coming session is an exceedingly lucky thing for Ministers, as he had the art of saying unpleasant things in a most unpleasant way, and of making himself as disagreeable as any one could well be. At the same time he knew well what he was about, and was a wholesome check upon the Government. His elevation to the Bench was generally well received, and I think he will make an excellent Judge, if I may form an opinion from his first appearance here last week as a member of the Appeal Court. The contrast between Judge Gillies and Judge Johnston—a veteran who claimed the Chief Justiceship on the ground that he had been for many years a Puisne Judge—was very marked. The former silent, attentive, quick to apprehend and decide; the latter, talking incessantly, and putting it quite out of the range of possibility for any lawyer to argue a case before him consecutively. Such a running fire of interruptions as Mr. Justice Johnston keeps up in the Appeal Court is not to be encountered in any other Court of superior jurisdiction I have ever set foot in in any other part of the globe. And yet Judge Johnston is a sound lawyer and a ripe scholar; and I have no doubt, as an old barrister remarked the other day, "he would make a very good Judge if he would only listen." All things considered, it is fortunate for the Bar and litigants that he did not get the chief place. The appointment which gives most dissatisfaction is that of Judge Williams, a gentleman who had no experience whatever in Supreme Court practice, but who is a fair conveyancer, and was at one time registrar of deeds at Christchurch, and from the period of Mr. Moorhouse's resignation was at the head of the deeds department, till his elevation to the Bench. He had the good fortune, however, to be on friendly terms with the newly made Minister for Justice, who was promoted from the resident magistracy of Christchurch to the Cabinet, without once having had a seat in the General Assembly. Since Mr. Bowen became a Minister, he has been elected for a Canterbury constituency. Judge Williams was assigned the Otago judicial district, which is the most important in the colony. However, as it is probable the Supreme Court will be concentrated at the seat of Government, the error of such an appointment (if it be an error), will not be irremediable.

In this connection, I may mention, that Mr. Stafford has promised to give Ministers a fair support during the absence of Mr. Vogel; and seeing that Mr. Bowen is believed to represent him in the Executive, this was to be expected. Moreover, Mr. Stafford attended the Government caucus at the close of last session, and pledged himself to support a measure for abolishing provincial institutions in the North Island.

The Opposition, in all probability, will be led by Sir George Grey, whose extreme views will doubtless be modified as circumstances may suggest. He is bristling all over with grievances against the Imperial Government, and I suspect he has entered the political arena in this colony to enable him to pay off some of those old scores. As Superintendent of Auckland he has his hands quite full, for, although the community of Auckland is perfectly solvent, the province of Auckland is notoriously in an impecunious state. Sir George Grey will have a considerable following in the House. He will be supported by the Superintendents of Otago and Canterbury, who desire to cling to provincial institutions until they have converted the last acre of the Crown lands into money and spent the coin. Canterbury has already anticipated receipts from land sales and other sources by a very large sum, and a new Executive has been formed for the purpose of economising. The first thing to feel the effect of the economic fit is education, the vote for which, under several heads, is to be curtailed. The depression of which Canterbury complains was brought about by over-speculation in land, which has locked up a great deal of capital, and seriously interferes with business. Stocks have, consequently, accumulated in Christchurch, forced sales have begun, and the local papers, in anticipation of the insolvency campaign, advocate making the bankruptcy laws more stringent. Canterbury also competed with the colonial Government in the labour market, by constructing branch railways which, for the present, are worked at a loss. But Canterbury is making rapid strides in developing its agricultural resources; and the Marquis of Normanby was most emphatic in his recognition of the evidences of progress in settlement he saw on every hand on the Canterbury plains. Indeed, few districts are better adapted for tillage farming than Canterbury, and the valleys and low downs of Otago. Unfortunately, the practice of exhaustion by overcropping has been too generally pursued. However, a more intelligent system is coming into vogue, more especially in Otago, where the agricultural population is gradually combining sheep-farming with tillage, instead of exhausting the soil by a succession of grain crops.

It is understood that the Government are prepared to introduce a bill for the abolition of provincial government. The details of the measure have not leaked out, but Ministers are pledged by resolution to find "substantial revenues" for the local governing bodies that are to take the place of provincial institutions. Where this substantiality is to come from does not appear. It cannot come from the land revenue, because that source of income does not exist in the North Island, and it may be said to be immediately exhausted in the Middle Island, except in remote outlying districts in which no present expenditure is needed, but which would claim the proceeds of its land sales on the newly-promulgated and narrow principle of local appropriation of all territorial revenue. Nor can it come out of gold-fields revenue, because the mining population justly complain of the heavy special taxation to which they are subjected, while the Provincial Governments declare that without these imposts they cannot get along. And as for endowing the local bodies from the Consolidated Revenue, that is simply out of the question—it is practically absorbed by interest on the public debt and departmental expenses; and what is much more to the point, the utmost limit of indirect taxation has been reached. Hence the inference that the Government propose abolishing provincial institutions, with the view of dividing the special receipts of the provinces among the rural municipalities or boards to be constituted under the new Act. And it is precisely on this point that the whole political struggle will turn. The country will not submit to increased taxation, and without a revision of the fiscal system of the colony, settlement must be retarded in several important districts. Thus, the Government must face two difficult questions at once, namely, the abolition of provincial government, and endowment of local governing bodies "with substantial revenues," and an adjustment of the incidence of taxation, with the view of equalising its pressure throughout the colony. This last is the more difficult of the two, as it can only be done by making the territorial revenue liable for colonial engagements instead of, as now, leaving it for local, that is, provincial appropriation. And this is a project which every representative from Canterbury and Otago will object to. These provinces possess most valuable estates, locked up for the present under pastoral leases, but which will fall into the hands of the Provincial Governments in a few years, and the intention is to cut the large runs up into small ones of from 2000 to 5000 acres, thereby increasing the annual rental very considerably, and promoting settlement. If the policy of provincial abolition be consummated, the Colonial Government will administer these lands, and the revenue will be under the control of the General Assembly. Hence the compact said to be entered into between Sir George Grey and the Superintendental party of Otago and Canterbury, that the existing arrangements for the allocation of land revenue shall be respected by him, and his Northern team. But then, the impecuniosity of the North, by reason of heavy taxation, and the want of land revenue, will act as a disturbing element in any political combination; and if Ministers are capable and prompt, they may steer safely through the session.

But the outlook for the country is not without its dark side. We have evidently exhausted our borrowing powers for some years to come; we cannot impose fresh taxes on trade and commerce; and an income and property tax, which is advocated by several leading newspapers, would simply scare away capital, and precipitate the crisis which may be averted by using the entire revenue of the colony for colonial purposes. The successful floating of the four million loan has relieved the colony from immediate anxiety; but I hardly think it will suffice to complete all the public works that have been authorised, as well as necessary extensions, to make these pay. Meanwhile, population is flowing into the country, wages are high, house rent is dear, and living generally expensive. A good deal is being done in the way of permanent settlement; but it is a fact that a large proportion of the new arrivals may simply be regarded as forming a floating population. As long as they receive high wages for very little work, they will be content with their lot; but when the pinch of hard times comes, they will find it difficult to practice self-denial, and wean themselves from extravagant and improvident habits, into which they so readily drift by reason of the unwonted plenty in possession and around them. And having nothing to tie them to the country, many of them will undoubtedly forsake it, leaving their families a burden upon the public. Indeed, Otago has to complain already of a good deal of that sort of thing; and it is idle to shut one's eyes to the probability of its becoming much more general.

Thanks to the masterly skill of Sir Donald M'Lean, the native question does not disturb the political atmosphere. He has succeeded in pacifying the country to a degree which renders settlement safe in any district up to the very boundary of the King's territory; and the leading chiefs of Tawhiao's party, not to speak of the King himself, are quite tired of their isolation. A few more years of Sir Donald M'Lean's administration will see every square foot of the North Island open to beneficial occupation. This great success may well be set against minor administrative blunders.

The public works are being pushed forward vigorously. The railway has been opened from Auckland to Mercer, on the banks of the Waikato, close by the scene of the battle of Koheroa, in July, 1873, and within a short distance of the advanced post at Maramarua, from whence Sir Duncan Cameron leisurely observed the Waikato chivalry, entrenched on the heights of Meremere. Now all the pomp and circumstance of war have disappeared; there is not a British soldier in the colony, and the Waikato tribes are scattered and broken. The line of the Waikato is occupied by thriving settlers; a railway bridge is being built over the Waikato at Ngaruawahia, within the shadow of King Potatau's grave; and in less than a twelvemonth from this date the locomotive will run between Auckland and the district of Rangioawhia, where the natives made their last stand in the Waikato. Along the West Coast of the North Island railway construction is going on apace, and an easy line has been explored at the back of Mount Egmont, towards Mokau and the Upper Waipa district. The line between Wellington and the Wairarapia Plain is under contract, and some fourteen miles will be open for traffic in a few weeks; while the railway from Napier on the East Coast to the interior is open for something like the same distance. It is in Otago and Canterbury, however, that the real progress of public works and settlement may be seen; although the Nelson and Marlborough railways, and the Brunner coal line in Westland, are also well forward.

The harvest has been favourable, and the season so far has been exceedingly fine. There will be abundance of winter feed, although the dry weather continued rather long. Sickness has been prevalent throughout the colony, owing to the want of drainage and the consumption in places of unwholesome water.

Commercial men look forward to telegraphic connection with Australia with great interest. It will be of the utmost importance to our mercantile affairs. The loss of the Schiller with the New Zealand March mail has created considerable anxiety, inasmuch as several leading colonists were passengers by the Mikado, amongst them the Hon. W. Fox and Mrs. Fox, Hon. Robert Campbell, of Otago; Colonel Moule (armed constabulary) and Mrs. Moule; and Captain and Mrs. Sharpe, of Wellington. It is not probable, however, that any of these travelled by the Schiller. Further intelligence is, however, anxiously looked for.

The direct communication established between Sydney and Wellington, by means of the Easby, is appreciated by business people here. Owing to the high prices of farm and dairy produce which rule here, supplies of butter, eggs, cheese, potatoes, &c., are looked for from New South Wales. When I mention that the retail price of eggs is 5s. to 5s. 6d. per dozen, and of fresh butter 2s. to 2s. 6d. per lb., the margin of profit for surplus produce from Sydney will be seen to be considerable.

The Governor and the Marchioness of Normanby arrived by the Luna this evening from the south. They were storm-bound yesterday at Picton. The weather is now calm, but threatening. Very heavy southerly gale on the coast for some days.

GOVERNMENT GAZETTE.

THE following notices appear in the Government Gazette published on Friday morning:—

VOLUNTEER RETIREMENT.—Mr. James Charles Cox, M.D., principal medical officer on the permanent staff of the Volunteer force, has retired on his rank, under the 43rd section of the Volunteer Force Regulation Act of 1867.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The undermentioned gentlemen have been appointed additional members of the Public School Board at Minmi:—Messrs. Francis Edward Crimmins, Thomas Howieson, Mark Fryer, and Richard Robert Thomas.

TENDERS ACCEPTED.—The following tenders have been accepted by the Government, viz.:—Messrs. B. Skinner and Son—supply of furniture for Surveyor-General's Office; Mr. John Hammond—erection of a bridge over Money-Money Creek, on road Coolac to Cootamundra; Mr. Joseph Mills—erection of post-office, Bathurst; Messrs. T. Crow, E. Brock, and G. Donald—erection of police buildings, Walleriwang; Mr. A. Lenthall—repairs required to Police Magistrate's quarters, Newcastle; road, Goulburn to Cooma, 2nd division—Messrs. J. Donoghoe and P. Carroll, contract 2 D; road, Goulburn to Cooma, 1st division—Mr. T. J. Buck, contract 6 D; road, Cowra to Grenfell—Mr. T. O'Shaughnessy, contracts 1 and 2 D; Messrs. G. Anderson and G. Nicoll, contract 2 D. Great Southern Road, 4th district—Mr. John Cusack, contract 1 B.

"Berkeley, September, 1869.—Gentlemen, I feel it a duty I owe to you to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have derived by taking 'Norton's Camomile Pills.' I applied to your agent, Mr. Bell, Berkeley, for the abovenamed Pills, for wind in the stomach, from which I suffered excruciating pain for a length of time, having tried nearly every remedy prescribed, but without deriving any benefit at all. After taking two bottles of your valuable pills I was quite restored to my usual state of health. Please give this publicity for the benefit of those who may thus be afflicted.—I am, Sir, yours truly, HENRY ALLPASS.—To the Proprietors of NORTON'S CAMOMILE PILLS."

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

THE several telegrams appearing in your various issues will have served to show that the Chinese immigration had gathered force rather than otherwise, and even up to the present time the influx seems rather to gain in force than to be stationary or retrograde. Latest advices from Hongkong by the E. and A. M. steamship Brisbane show that, though a great many Chinese were detained in Hongkong by unreliable telegrams from Brisbane, still the main promoters of the "rush," viz., the leading firms in Hongkong, are still bent on giving emphatic support to the opinion prevalent amongst all business men here, that they intend to make Northern Queensland the field of a large Asiatic settlement. The Brisbane brought nearly 600 Chinese, and the firm of Kum Chong On and Co., of Cooktown, have advices of a large steamer (name not stated) to arrive inside a fortnight after the Brisbane's date of reporting here.

The steamer is chartered by the firm of Kum Chong Tye for passengers and a full freight of general cargo. There are other firms who have advices of ships to arrive; and Tin War and Co., of Sydney, have sent a member of their firm to Hongkong to arrange for a succession of vessels to Cooktown on special charter, if the "rush" holds good. This gentleman, who sailed in the Adria, made arrangements with a leading firm here for the agency of these vessels, and took considerable pains to make himself acquainted with the advantages and disadvantages of the port, the state of the markets, the nature and resources of the gold-fields; and was careful to make many inquiries as to the soil, climate, and certain other matters, that seem to fully carry out the opinion I have already expressed, that the promoters of this Chinese migration have other objects in view than the merely temporary advantage to be derived from the gold-fields of the North.

I have refrained from writing much lately concerning this question, as up here there has been a great deal of uncertainty as to the extent to which we might expect this influx to reach, but all doubt seems to be set at rest by the late news from Hongkong. There are reported to be a great number of Chinese awaiting means of transit to this place, and those who know anything of the clannish nature of the Chinese will admit that the success of one or a few will cause the influx of many more.

A few Chinamen have returned to their homes by the steamers direct to Hongkong. They took a good deal of gold with them, over 3000 oz. in all. The gold was pretty evenly divided among them; and besides this, there have been large remittances of specie. The fact of these exports from Cooktown will be extensively circulated and will certainly have the effect of furthering the supposed views of the merchants who have mainly caused this Asiatic descent. There seems every chance of this becoming eventually a populous Chinese settlement, and certainly there is no reason why, if the Chinese have fair play and no harsh or restrictive Governmental interference with their entrance into the colony, the rich lands around Cooktown and the many rivers to the north and south of it, should not be the fields whence Australia will at no distant date draw her supplies of tea and sugar, rice and tobacco, spices and silks, and all the varied and rich products of a tropical clime. On the rich alluvial flats that at present only spread fever and death, we may yet see waving fields of remunerative crops, and see the tangled scrub disappear and give place to a higher and more remunerative and valuable product.

One of the Chinese merchants very shrewdly remarked to me that all this is not alone the thoughtless rush of ignorant men, actuated by the "auri sacra fames"—that there are shrewd and far-seeing men, who hope to turn Northern Queensland into something more profitable than a wilderness with a few hundred white diggers rushing about in it, and a few vast grazing farms, with the fierce and cowardly natives harassing these advanced pickets of civilization. His remarks were, in his broken English—the gesticulative accompaniment of which, I believe, no actor living or dead could equal—that the Palmer was "welly good place, welly good for Chinaman; but after a bit no gold, no chop then, not so good as tell Chinaman along Hongkong. By'm-bye, Chinamen come here, great many; get him no gold along Palmer, then him welly poor man, then him work for me, for you, for any man, all the same as Hongkong. Then China merchant get him great many work along plantation; grow plenty tea, plenty rice, plenty tobacco, plenty sugar—maybe, plenty opium. Diggings no good then; plenty Chinaman work plantation. Now Chinaman think him be welly rich man along Palmer, he no work at all; by'm bye he welly poor, work plenty." In answer to an inquiry as to whether all his countrymen believed in the accounts of the Palmer, current in Hongkong, he said that "all him poor fellow-Chinaman believe him; China merchant not foolish; think him some gold there, soon get him all." The land in many places, close to Cooktown, is admirably adapted for the growth of many classes of inter-tropical vegetable products. Along the flat alluvial lands that border the Annan, the Endeavour, and the Daintree there are many splendid belts of fine soil, equal, I have been told by competent judges, who have seen both districts, to anything on the rivers to the south. The reefs may give employment to a great number, both directly and indirectly, and the great plains and splendid country in the district form many a fine station; but, if Cooktown is to be the great port of Northern Queensland, to outstrip all other competitors, and eventually rival Brisbane, it will take more than reefs and gold to enable it to do so.

Meanwhile, business is very brisk, and though competition is very keen, prices are very fairly sustained. Recent news from the Palmer tends to show that the temporary fall in prices there has been compensated by a quick rise, consequent on the protraction of the rainy season and the large influx of Celestials. In consequence, every team offering is quickly loaded, and horses have advanced in price. Packing is proceeded with vigorously, and everything indicates a vigorous preparation for this incoming season. The news from the various localities on the field is also more encouraging. At Oakey and Sandy various lucky patches have been struck, and the generality of the men do not grumble at their luck. The Chinese are gradually creeping up towards these creeks—the richest ever opened up on the Palmer—and at no distant day they may, indeed must, cross over to the Mitchell watershed. At present the main body are working along the whole bed of the left hand branch for a distance of about six or seven miles from Revolver Point past the German Bar. They are working, too, where white men have never cared to work—where, indeed, it is a certain case of fever and ague for a white man to work—right in the bed of the creeks and waterholes. Every small gully and minor creek has its party of steady hard-working coolies, who, from the principle of co-operation, are enabled to work patiently through the whole of the ground, whether it turns out poor or rich; and as they never leave a foot of their ground unworked, they get every speck of gold that is in the claim. White men up here rarely work in parties of more than three, and there are more "halters" than mates in the field. The Chinese are all getting gold, some more than others of course, and I daresay among so many there are a good few who are unlucky, but on the other hand many are making nearly an ounce per day, and a still larger number 8 to 12 or 15 pennyweights, and this, mark you, in ground that was abandoned as worked out by the white men, and not fit to pay wages. They have likewise pushed out greatly among the unworked gullies looked upon as useless on account of their great distance from water for washing out. These gullies are now being worked by large bands of Chinese, who carry the wash-dirt in baskets long distances to water. A gentleman who had returned two days before from the Palmer, told me this day he met one party of Chinamen, who were carrying the wash dirt nearly four miles from their claim to the nearest water, and that, too, over some of the worst country on the whole field. This, white men could not do in this climate; they would be simply offering a premium for death. The news from all the various creeks and gullies is more healthy. The miners, I should say diggers rather, seem to have made up their minds that the "day of small things" has arrived for the Palmer, and are contented to work for wages, and what chance fortune may happen to them.

On the Mitchell, there are a great number still working, and making fair wages; but even on "Coarse Gold Creek," the big things of the past are found but too rarely, and the same may be said of all the various workings on the Mitchell waters.

Pine Creek and Stony Creek still hold out, and many a good find happens there even yet, though great part of the ground has been worked over and over again.

M'Leod's and Jessop's are nearly deserted by the whites, but will be soon occupied by the Celestials.

At the head waters of the Palmer there are a great number of small parties prospecting, and a few have brought down very fair shows of gold. As a general thing they are inclined to believe a great deal in the reefs up in that locality, and from what can be gathered there, it is no doubt that reefs will be found there of great value.

On the Normanby there are still about 800 men working, and as a general rule making very fair wages, but that locality still retains its reputation for unhealthiness.

The escort, under inspector Clohesey's charge, came in last Thursday with about 7000 oz. It is stated that over 20,000 would have been sent, but the high escort rate charged by Government prevented it. Since that date, about 15,000 or 16,000 oz. have arrived by private hand, and the Leichhardt leaving to-morrow morning, will take over 20,000 oz., of this a good deal goes to the Chinese account. One large firm of butchers on the Palmer brought 8000 oz. into town yesterday, and several large shipments may be looked for during the next few months.

From the reefs the news is encouraging. One of the party in No. 2 west claim, on the Queen of the North reef, brought in some remarkably fine specimens. The stone, which was a mixed quartz with ironstone and granite, was thoroughly impregnated with gold, and he declared that his party had half a ton of the same stuff, besides large quantities of excellent stone at grass. If so, the prospects of the company formed to introduce a quartz-crushing machine up there are highly encouraging. The machine is already purchased, and is expected to be here within a month, and to be in working order and in position in two months more. Mr. Kennedy, the teamster is, I believe, the largest shareholder in the company. There is no doubt that this breaking the ice will do good, and if the present reefs turn out good crushings there will be soon many more machines on the Palmer, and there will no longer be any excuse for the withholding of capital of southern capitalists from a field that promises so well as the Palmer.

There are various other names that could be mentioned as affording fair indications that gold can be made on the Palmer if only one sets about it in the right way.

As to matters social they will quite occupy the space of another letter, and I defer my communication till the sailing of the Blackbird.

MINING BOARD OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

THE Board met yesterday morning, at the Board-room, Public Works Department. Present—Messrs. Thompson (chair), Baker, Copeland, Brown, Griffin, Burns, Mongan, Sweeney, and De Courcy Brown.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The secretary read the draft of a letter addressed to the Secretary for Mines, in reply to a letter from him suggesting that certain matters should be provided for by the Board in the amended regulations. The reply stated that the matters referred to were provided for in the regulations passed by the Board on November 13, 1874—in regulations 104, 142, and 152. Regulations 104 and 142 had been re-enacted as they stood, and regulation 152 had been slightly altered, but without in any way interfering with the matters referred to by the Secretary for Mines.

Some discussion of a conversational nature took place, with respect to the wording of the letter, and some alterations were suggested.

The secretary stated he had forwarded the amended regulations to the Mining Department, but had not yet received any reply.

The Board adjourned until half-past 10 o'clock on Monday morning next.

SPEECH OF SIR JOSIAH MASON ON LAYING THE FOUNDATION OF HIS NEW SCIENTIFIC COLLEGE AT BIRMINGHAM.

(From the Times, February 24.)

SIR Josiah Mason, in reply, said the infirmity of his voice prevented his addressing the meeting himself, but his friend Mr. Bunce would read his reply, which was as follows:—

"Gentlemen,—I have to thank you most sincerely for your presence here to-day to witness the laying of the foundation stone of my Scientific College, and I have to thank you also for the kind address which has just been read, and for its full and generous recognition of my labours. Schools in my youth were few and poor; there were no institutions for popular teaching, no evening classes to which youths might go after their day's work was ended. Whatever I learnt I had to teach myself in the intervals of laborious and precarious occupations, first at Kidderminster, my birthplace, and later at Birmingham, the home of my adoption, and the place in which sixty years of my life have been spent. At Kidderminster, as a youth, I worked at a variety of trades—baking, shopkeeping, carpet weaving, and others. When I came to Birmingham in my 20th year I was first connected with one of the then staple trades of the town, the gilt toy making, and it was not until after ten years of hard work and heavy disappointment that I found the position to which Providence had destined me. At thirty years of age, with twenty pounds of savings as my whole fortune, I was brought into association with one of the most honourable, industrious, and ingenious of men, Mr. Samuel Harrison, the inventor of split rings, whom I served for a time, and to whose business, on his retirement, I succeeded. Mr. Harrison was no common man; he was a friend of Dr. Priestly, whom he assisted in many of his philosophical experiments, and for whom I may mention, as a matter of interesting local history, he made the first steel pen that ever was made in Birmingham. To me he was a dear and good friend, whose memory I have never ceased to cherish with continual affection. To the business I received from him I afterwards added the trade of steel pen making, which I have now followed for more than 47 years, first as the maker of the well-known Perryian pens, and later in my own name, until I have developed the works into the largest pen factory in the world—though I ought to say that the building in which they are now conducted no longer belongs to me, but has been conveyed to the trustees of this college, as part of their endowment, so that I am now the tenant of my own foundation. This business and that of the split-ring making were my sole occupations until 1840, when accident brought me into close relations with my late valued friend and partner, Mr. G. R. Elkington, who was then applying the great discovery of electro-deposition, and through my association with him in this undertaking I may claim a share in the creation of a form of scientific industry which has so largely enriched the town of Birmingham and increased its fame throughout the world. To this we afterwards added the establishment of copper works in South Wales. Since the death of my friend Mr. Elkington I have restricted myself to my original work as a pen-maker and split-ring maker, with an occasional deviation into other employments in which science has been brought to the aid of industry. I mention these facts to show you how the means with which God has blessed me have been acquired, and to show also how natural it is that I should wish to devote some portion of those means to assist in promoting scientific teaching and to advance the varied forms of scientific industry with which, throughout my Birmingham life, I have been so closely connected. But before I could take in hand the foundation of this college I had another work to do. I had always had a great desire to do some deed of love for the poor and helpless; and, therefore, my first care was to make provision for the aged and the orphans. This I was enabled to do by founding the orphanage and alms-houses at Erdington; and this being done, I was at liberty to turn my attention to the project of the college. There were many difficulties to be overcome. Willingness to give money will do much, but it will not do everything. The site for example, was a great hindrance; many places were thought of and put aside; others were sought for and could not be obtained. At last, by the willing co-operation of my friend Mr. Philip Henry Muntz, M.P., I was enabled to obtain the land upon which we are now standing, though long negotiations were necessary before a sufficient extent could be secured. These delays, however, did not really do any harm to the scheme; indeed, they afforded time for the proper consideration of the plan of the college, and the preparation of a deed of foundation of a nature to give full effect to my wishes. Whatever is necessary for the improvement of scientific industry and for the cultivation of art, especially as applied to manufactures, the trustees will be able to teach; they may also, by a provision subsequent to the original deed, afford facilities for medical instruction; and, as has been mentioned in the address read by the Deputy-Mayor, they are authorised, and indeed enjoined, to revise the scheme of instruction from time to time, so as to adapt it to the requirements of the district in future years, as well as at the present time. It is not my desire to set up an institution in rivalry of any now existing; but to provide the means of carrying further and completing the teaching now given in other scientific institutions and in the evening classes now so numerous in the town and its neighbourhood, and especially in connection with the Midland Institute, which has already conferred so much benefit upon large numbers of students, and which I am glad to see represented here to-day. My wish is, in short, to give all classes in Birmingham, in Kidderminster, and in the district generally, the means of carrying on, in the capital of the Midland district, their scientific studies as completely and thoroughly as they can be prosecuted in the great science schools of this country and the Continent, for I am persuaded that in this way alone—by the acquirement of sound, extensive, and practical scientific knowledge—can England hope to maintain her position as the chief manufacturing centre of the world. I have great and I believe well-founded hope for the future of this foundation. I look forward to its class-rooms and lecture-halls being filled with a succession of earnest and intelligent students, willing to learn not only all that can be taught, but in their turn to communicate their knowledge to others, and to apply it to useful purposes for the benefit of the community. It is in this expectation that I have done my part, thankful to God that He has given me the means and the will to do it; hoping that from this place many original and beneficial discoveries may proceed; trusting that I, who have never been blessed with children of my own, may yet, in these students, leave behind me an intelligent, earnest, industrious, and truth loving and truth seeking progeny for generations to come. (Loud applause.)

This concluded the ceremonial proceedings. The majority of the company then adjourned to a luncheon to which they had been invited by Sir Josiah Mason.

THIS day, at 11 a.m., at the Australian Auction Rooms, Pitt-street, household furniture, pianofortes, plate, glass, coir fibre, &c. Bradley, Newton, and Lamb, auctioneers.—ADV.

MARRIAGE WITH DECEASED WIFE'S SISTER LEGALIZING BILL.

THE following protest has been lodged with the Clerk of the Legislative Council against the passing of a bill intituled "An Act to legalise the Marriage of a Man with the Sister of his Deceased Wife:"

1. Because such a bill is unnecessary in New South Wales, as the 5th and 6th of William IV., c. 54, known as Lord Lyndhurst's Act, not having been adopted and applied here by the local Legislature, and there being no Ecclesiastical Courts in this colony in which sentence of nullity can be obtained, all marriages between persons within the prohibited degrees of consanguinity and affinity, however abhorrent to the feelings of Englishmen, are valid to all civil purposes in New South Wales.

2. Because this being a British colony the law of marriage as regards the prohibited degrees ought to be the same here as in the mother country, for the capacity or incapacity to contract matrimony in relation to those degrees is personal, and being impressed upon the person by the law of his own country ought to accompany him into every country; but if her Majesty be advised to assent to this bill, some one of her Majesty's subjects in this colony might be induced by the words thereof to marry his deceased wife's sister, and upon changing his place of abode to England would discover that his marriage there was invalid and his children bastards and incapable of inheriting property in England.

3. Because this bill will only increase the stigma under which this colony lies at present, by reason of our not having any means of annulling marriages within any of the degrees of consanguinity and affinity.

4. Because this bill is calculated to revolutionize the home life of our country, to lower the moral feeling of the domestic circle, if not to stain its purity, and unnecessarily outrage the religious prejudices of the majority of English, Scotch, and Irish colonists, and would not be passed if the sentiments of the women of the colony were consulted.

COMMERCIAL.

STOCK AND SHARE REPORT.

H. A. CAPE.—Our share market has not recovered from the very depressed state existing at date of last circular, and the demand for share securities has been of a limited character. Banks: New South Wales were dealt in at £49, and still offer at this figure. There has only been one sale of Commercials, which was effected yesterday, at £86. Australian Joint Stocks remain much about the same; fair parcels have changed hands at £13 7s 6d and £13 5s. Citys, after receding from £10 to £9 2s 6d, have again rallied; recent sales at £9 5s, with buyers unsupplied. No transactions to note in New Zealands since the meeting; stock offering at £17 10s. Queensland Nationals were taken at £5 17s 6d, and are now held for £6. Unions are steady at £54; Mercantiles brought £5 10s. Steam: Australasian exhibit an advance of 35s per share, sales from £21 to £22 5s; Illawarras met with purchasers at £5 2s 6d and £5 5s; one sale of Clarence and Richmond at £1 17s 6d. Insurance: New South Wales Marine were quitted at 31s and 28s; Pacifics show a slight advance, with sales at 21s 3d and 22s; Sydney Fire realised 57s and 57s 6d; and Uniteds 15 3d. Gas: Only one sale of this stock at £17 8s 6d. Coal: Wallsends have still further advanced, a sale reported at £19 17s 6d; Waratahs rose from £12 to £12 15s; a sale of Bulli at £14. Copper: Peak Downs have not been moving freely, a few sales at 11s. Miscellaneous: Shale and Oil were dealt in at 10s, and still offer. Debentures: Business in Government securities has been confined to New South Wales long dated fives at 108 and 108 10s.—June 3.

PRODUCE CIRCULARS.

MORT AND CO.—It is satisfactory to note the firm tone exhibited at the London wool sales now current, private telegrams fully confirming the published reports in regard thereto. The arrivals in time for these sales appear to have reached some 265,000 bales, which, although hitherto considered a formidable quantity for any one series, is much below the number of bales at one time expected to be available, and the diminished arrivals may have had some influence on the present market, as although colonial wools will still be well represented at the later sales of the year, it must now be evident to Home buyers that the total increase from the colonies this season will be inconsiderable, and not at all out of proportion to the increasing demand for this staple, which is gradually but surely opening out for itself new channels for consumption throughout the world, and while trade generally remains in a sound condition there cannot be much to fear from the increased production of an article in such universal demand. As might have been expected, the advices from Home have induced more active competition at the sales held in the local market, but the quantity offered has, as usual at this season of the year, been small, and not of a character to afford reliable quotations. The clearances since our last have included two vessels, taking 5005 bales, which, with previous shipments, make 106,408 bales since the opening of the season, as against 105,790 bales to a corresponding period last season. Stock and Stations: We have numerous inquiries from investors in these securities, and could place suitable sheep and cattle properties to advantage. We have sold by auction since our last the Coombing Park and Bangaroo estates as follows:—Coombing Park, Carcoar, with 20,972 acres freehold land, at 35s 4d per acre; 12,864 sheep at a fixed price; Arab stallion Deerslayer for £150, and belongings at a valuation; Bangaroo, near Canowindra, with 17,160 acres of freehold land at 25s 8d per acre—16,819 sheep at fixed price; 400 head of cattle at £5 per head, and belongings at a valuation: total estimated amount of sale, £63,500. We also notice the following sales:—Miller's Creek station, Liverpool Plains, with 11,000 sheep and 45 head of cattle for £10,000; Umbercollie, Darling Downs, Queensland, with about 12,000 sheep and 150 head of cattle for £10,000; Wambangalang, Wellington district, with 15,600 sheep at 15s, 600 head of cattle at £5 10s. Store Sheep and Cattle: The demand has been fair, but transactions have not been as numerous as anticipated. The continued firmness in the London wool market must however beneficially affect the prices of sheep, more especially as there is likely to be a favourable season in most districts. Quotations remain unaltered. Fat Cattle and Sheep: The metropolitan market has recently been fully supplied and prices are a trifle easier, except for prime quality of either, for which values have been well maintained. Quotations may be given at from 22s to 24s per 100 lbs. for best beef and 12s to 14s for best wethers, second quality 10s 6d to 11s per head. Sheepskins: This market has ruled firm throughout, and every lot offered has been disposed of at, in most cases, very satisfactory figures. In the absence of greasy wools in quantity to employ hands at scouring establishments, prices for sheepskins will probably remain firm throughout the winter. We quote full-woolled, 5½d to 9d; medium, 6½d to 7½d; short, from 4½d to 5½d; pelts, 2½d to 3½d per lb. Tallow: There is apparently no disposition to do business for shipment, and, as a consequence, a number of parcels suitable for that purpose have had to be held over, and quotations consequently are only nominal. For trade purposes there has been a moderate demand at late rates. We quote beef, fair to good, at £30 to £31; inferior, £26 to £29; mixed, £30 to £34; mutton, £35 to £36 per ton. Hides have shown some fluctuation in value during the month, and prices generally are weaker, although parcels in good condition have occasionally been realised at prices fully equal to those of last month. We have no reason to anticipate an over supply, and prices will probably recover before long. Present quotations are—Heavies, 4½d to 5d; medium, 4½d to 5d, and light and dry, 6d to 7d per lb. Horse hides have been sold somewhat better, well-flayed and carefully cured lots being most in request. Recent sales have been at from 6s 6d to 8s 6d for large sizes, and 4s to 5s 6d for small and dry. Leather: This market has not shown much activity. Well dressed parcels of kip, tweed, and calf have on the whole been realised fairly, but inferior lots are not in request except at comparatively low figures. For sole and harness prices remain much the same. The range of value has been—Kip, medium, 16½ to 18d; light and good, 19d to 22d; calf, 3s to 3s 6d; cow tweed, 24d to 31d; horse tweed, 22d to 27d; harness, 13d to 15½d; sole, 9½d to 10½d; best, 10½d to 11½d per lb.

JOHN BRIDGE.—Wool and skins, as might be expected at this week's sales, were eagerly competed for at prices in advance of anything seen during the last six months. I sold skins at 5d to 8d, skin wool at 13d to 16d, greasy at 9½d to 12d, fleece at 15d to 20d, and scoured at 18d to 23d. Tallow has not changed. I sold this week about 70 casks of beef at prices ranging between 31s and 33s, and about 20 casks mutton at from 33s to 37s—mixed lots in proportion. Hides are now again in fair request at 4½d to 5½d for wet, and 5½d to 7d for dry parcels. Horse hides are in better request, and sell freely at 6s to 9s for fair. Salted lots, calf and yearling skins, sell at extreme rates, viz., 3s to 11s each. Wallaby and kangaroo skins are now scarce, and any sound parcels would sell well at an improvement on prices of the last six months. Horns are in request at 21s to 30s per 100. Bones, if sound, are worth 12s to 15s per cwt. Hair: Horse tail, 19d to 24d; mane, 13d to 15d; mixed, 15d to 19d; ox and cow tail, 6d to 14d. Black oil, 2s 9d to 3s 9d per gallon; beeswax, 12d to 14d per lb.; Liverpool salt, 4s 6d to 4s 9d per cwt.; flour, firm at 10s 6d to 11s per 100 lbs.; maize, 3s 10d to 4s 3d, market well supplied, but it is not now likely that maize will sell at less than 3s 6d to 4s 6d for the remainder of this season; sugar of all descriptions meets with ready sale at prices quoted last week; tin ore is in fair request, but no improvement in price can be recorded. Leather of all descriptions was scarce at this week's sales, and for any fair parcels of dressed goods an improvement in price was perceptible. Calf brought extreme prices, and sole was also dear, viz., 10½d to 11½d for ordinary descriptions. Harness remains steady at 14d to 15d for good, and 13d to 14d for medium. Live Stock: Cattle are a trifle easier, and sheep may be quoted about 6d lower. Lambs, if good, are worth 10s to 14s, but inferior lots are very dull of sale, as is usual at this time of the year. Calves are worth 15s to 40s, according to quality, and pigs are in request at 3½d to 5d per lb.—June 4.

HARRISON, JONES, AND DEVLIN.—Wool: Prices were rather better than at previous sales, caused no doubt by the favourable news by telegram from London, added to the very limited quantity now coming forward; prices will probably continue good for all fair parcels during the winter months. The sales ranged—For fleece, 15½d to 19¾d; greasy, 7½d to 10½d; scoured, 13½d to 20½d; the lowest quotation being for odd bales. We offered 196 bales, selling 193, viz.: Fleece—C&FB over Fish River, 44 at 19¾d, 7 bellies and pieces at 14d, clips at 9½d; greasy, WW over H, 4 at 9½; WW, 3 at 10½d; DD over M, 6 at 7¾d; TPL over Waibundunga, 84 at 9½d; MKY over Breevan, 6 at 9d, 2 pieces at 6½d scoured; IVY over B, 6 at 20d, 2 at 15d to 16d; CWD over B, 13 at 18d, and 24 odd lots at full rates. Sheepskins: The demand continues very good, and prices are fully up to late quotations, prime lots being most inquired for; the general quality of those catalogued for this week's sale has been for the most part of medium description. The sales ranged—for best skins, 7d to 8¾d; medium, 6d to 7d; pelts and short-woolled, 3d to 5d. We cleared a fair catalogue at these figures. Tallow: Yesterday's public sales were attended by a few buyers for export, but owing to the scarcity of freights for London they appeared to hold off for last week's prices; it is likely a large portion will be cleared up privately. Trade tallows very dull of sale. We sold—Mutton, DB, 1 at 36s; beef, LO, 1 at 33s, 3 at 28s; mixed, JCH, 3 at 36s; BH, 6 at 29s; MS, 1 at 33s 6d; WW, 2 at 37s. Quotations—Best mutton, £36 to £37 10s; beef, £30 to £31 10s; station, £27 to £30. Hides: The depression noted last week still continues, attributable to the absence of shipping buyers and the great scarcity of bark, which induces tanners to work up present stocks. The sales ranged—Best heavy, 4¾d to 4½d; heavy, 4¼d to 4½d; medium, 5d to 5¾d; light, 5½d to 6¼d. We sold 1014 out of our catalogue of 1067. Hair, horns, and bones are without alteration. Leather: The sales this week were not very brisk, no very first-class lots being forward. Good lines of sole are in demand, and light kip also. Harness is in full supply, and prices are hardly so firm. Quotations—Sole, best, 10½d to 11½d; fair, 9½d to 10½d; kip, best, 20½d to 21½d; medium, 17d to 18d; cow tweed, 24d to 33d; horse tweed, 24d to 27d; harness, 13½d to 16d. We disposed of nearly all our catalogue (87 lots) at above rates. Tin Ore: According to the working of the various smelting establishments, they are all able to keep the supply of the raw material pretty closely worked up, so that the supply is now very little over the demand, the prices given by the smelters comparing favourably with the present selling rate of metal. Since our last week's report our sales have been about 40 tons, viz.: 66 bags at £50 0s 4d, 25 at £49 19s, 19 at £49 16s 3d, 113 at £49 12s 3d, 51 at £49 3s 9d, 57 at £49 0s 1d, 174 at £48 5s 3d, 36 at £48 7s 6d. Smelted Tin: There has been a more active demand for tin during the week, and prices have hardened somewhat since the publication of our last report. The last English telegram, although reporting no further rise, confirmed the previous advice of improved price, and had the effect of inspiring more confidence in the local buyers. Our sales this week have been fifty-five tons.—June 4.

MAIDEN, HILL, AND CO.—Wool: The sales held on Thursday passed off very spiritedly, and enhanced prices were obtained for the whole of the various descriptions offered, more especially for greasy parcels; the season may be considered virtually closed so far as fleece and greasy lots are concerned, there will, however, be a fair quantity of scoured and handwashed to be brought forward for which we anticipate full rate. We append a summary of prices, viz.,—scoured, 1st and 2nd, 19d to 24d, ditto seedy 16d to 18d, ditto 3rd 14½d to 15½d; locks and pieces 12d to 14½d; fleece, superior, 20d to 23d; ditto fair, 19d to 19½d; ditto low to ordinary, 16d to 18d; greasy, superior, 10d to 11d; ditto. fair, 8½d to 9d per lb. Sheepskins: This line of produce continues in much favour, the various lots brought forward being eagerly competed for. Our quotations are—Superior, 8d to 9d; good, 7d to 7½d; fair, 6d to 6½d; short, 4d to 5d; pelts, 3d per lb. Leather: We cannot report any improvement in this market; the sales held on Wednesday were very dull, more so than we have noticed for some time. Sole, light kip, harness, bag, and bridle were the only descriptions in anything like demand. Basils are very saleable. We quote—Harness, superior, 14d to 16d; ditto, brown, 14d to 16½d; sole, 10d to 11½d; kip, 18d to 20½d; calf, 30d to 43d; yearling, 24d to 27d per lb.; bridle, 15s to 16s; bag, 14s to 17s per side. Tallow: Market remains very dull, there is no demand for shipment, the trade operating only to a moderate extent. Quotations:—Mutton £34 to £36, beef £31 to £33 5s, mixed £30 to £31, station £26 to 30 per ton. Hides: The market showed a further decline in price to-day (with the exception of butchers), it is very questionable whether present prices will continue, as some of the largest tanners are fully supplied for some time to come, this, coupled with a further fall in the London market will tend to lower prices. We catalogued over 1600, including horse hides, quotations for which are—dry station, light, 5d to 6½d; medium weights, 5½d to 5¾d; heavy 5½d to 5¾d; butcher's, 4¾d to 5d per lb.; horse hides, 7s 6d to 8s; small, 5s 5d to 5s 9d; yearlings, 7s to 8s 6d; calfskins, 3s to 5s 9d; foal, 2s 6d to 3s 3d each. Hair: All qualities have improved in price, viz.:—Horsetail, 21d to 24d; mixed, 17d to 19d; mane, 12d to 13d; cow, 5d to 14d per lb.—June 4.

STOCK AND STATION CIRCULARS.

MAIDEN, HILL, AND CO.—Fat Cattle: A large number came forward on Monday, and caused quite a panic in the fat cattle market, so marked that the agents agreed to hold no more sales during the week. Therefore no sales were held on Thursday. The fall was fully 20s a head on all classes, inferior particularly suffering. This fall we think is only temporary. Best beef worth say 22s per 100 lbs. Fat Sheep: This market is without much alteration, and as all the sheep on the road are generally purchased before arrival, the quotations, as a guide to the value of sheep, must be taken from Glebe Island, viz., 2½d per lb. for best mutton. Store Stock: We have this week sold on account of Messrs. M'Donald, Smith, and Co., 1200 store bullocks, from their Queensland station, at a satisfactory price—Mr. Richard Hill, purchaser. Stations: We have inquiries for first-class salt-bush stations, at top rates.—June 4.

SULLIVAN AND SIMPSON.—Stations: We notice a greater desire to invest in these securities than usual, salt-bush stations being most in demand, and the further they are out of the reach of selectors, the more they are sought after. We have this week sold privately in conjunction with Messrs. Maiden, Hill, and Co., the Retreat Station, on the Barcoo, in the district of Mitchell, Queensland, on account of Mr. W. J. Forrester, together with about 500 head of cattle without muster, for the lump sum of £5500 cash—Mr. William Alison, purchaser. Fat Cattle: On Monday the number of cattle yarded was about 600, the quality in most cases only in middling condition. After the first pen was sold it was quite evident that a serious fall would have to be submitted to, which was the case before the sale was over, for we estimate the reduction at about 30s per head compared with last week's rates. This is to be accounted for by the fact that the wholesale purchasers having had a large number arrive that they had bought on stations, consequently were not purchasers at the yards, and it is fortunate that the manager of the Sydney Meat Company (Mr. M'Gee) was present and bid for most lots, or all would not have been cleared out even at the reduction mentioned. On Thursday, contrary to usage, there was no sale, as the different agents agreed that it was no use offering cattle until the number in the hands of the trade were partially cleared off; however, we only look upon this fall as temporary. We quote best pens of bullocks worth 18s per 100 lbs.; fair to good, 20s to 21s. We have this week sold 126 bullocks, on account of Mr. Robert Frost, at an average of £3 11s. Fat Sheep: The market fairly supplied, but most of the sheep arriving show the effect of the late rains and cold nights. Prime sheep are in demand at late quotations. Store Cattle: There is a good demand for this class of stock, particularly for all bullocks of ages, say 3 to 5, which are very saleable if in a suitable district. We quote these ages worth £3 to £3 5s, mixed ages proportionately. We have this week sold privately, in conjunction with Messrs. Finlay and Co., of Goulburn, 523 head of mixed sexes and ages on account of Messrs. Ryrie, Brothers, of Micalago, Monaro, at quotations. Store Sheep: We have no change to report in prices. There is a better demand than for some time past; this is no doubt owing to the wool market keeping up so well. We quote 4 to 5 year old wethers worth 8s 3d to 8s 6d. All depends on place of delivery; ewes in lamb are worth from 10s to 11s.—June 4.

G. M. PITT AND SON.—Stations: We have had one or two inquiries this week without leading to any business. We note the sale of a large freehold property at auction, at a satisfactory price. Fat Cattle; 700 yarded. Sales this week opened excessively dull, and biddings became slacker as they progressed. The carcase men being full-handed, could not buy to any extent; and at the close of Monday's market, it was with the greatest difficulty a clearance could be effected. There was fully 20s a head fall from the opening to the closing sales. Taking this into consideration, the agents postponed further sales till next Monday, which no doubt will put things right again. We quote best beef worth 23s per 100 lbs. Our sales have been—217 mixed (Sloper Cox's) at £7 16s 6d, 127 cows (F. Burns) at £5 8s 6d, 300 bullocks (on account of Messrs. Gibson, Brothers, delivered on their Caragabal station, (Bland) at £8 3s 6d, 22 calves at £2 2s. Fat Sheep: The sheep forward this week have been chiefly middling and inferior, which are getting more difficult to quit. Prime wethers are becoming scarce, and improving in price. We quote 56-lb. wethers worth 14s. Our sales have been—1260 wethers (Campbell's) at from 14s 1d to 14s 6d, 1604 ditto (T. W. Smart's) at 11s to 13s, 1695 ditto (E. Vickery's) at 10s 1d to 11s 6d; 300 ditto (W. Webb's) at 11s; 2260 wethers (J. Penzer's) from his Bendemar station, delivered at Wellerawang at 13s. Store Sheep: We have placed a very superior lot of wethers under offer this week, to be inspected, and are in treaty for one or two other lots. We have buyers for 20,000 to 30,000 wethers, and quote best descriptions to 9s. We have sold this week, on account of H. J. Adams, 6000 breeding ewes at a highly satisfactory price, for cash—Mr. W. F. Buchanan, of Warrana, purchaser.—June 4.

BUTLER AND INGLIS.—Fat Cattle: On Monday the supply was abundant, and a fall of from 15s to 20s per head took place. On Thursday, those sent forward were withdrawn from sale, and none were offered. Best beef is worth about 20s per 100 lbs., but we expect prices will rise again next week. Sheep: The supply was rather scarce, and mostly of medium quality; those offered brought from 11s to 14s. Milch Cows: Good were in fair demand, but scarce; we sold 25, ranging from £5 2s 6d to £12 13s 6d. Calves: There was a fair supply, and the quality better than usual. We sold 10 (Antill's) at 27s to 44s, 16 (Vicary's) at 21s 6d to 34s, and a few smaller lots. Lambs: There was an improvement in the prices of good lambs, the recent glut being mostly cleared off. We sold 40 (Hawkins's) at 9s to 14s 3d, 50 (Vicary's) at 9s 3d to 14s, 30 (Scanlan's) at 10s 3d to 13s. Pigs: Market about the same as last week, except for fat pigs, for which there was an advance in prices. Quotations—14s 6d to 35s.—June 3.

GEORGE KISS reports a good demand for stylish and serviceable horses the past week. At the Bazaar, his sales of horses and vehicles consisted of the following:—For Mr. Russell, a grey gelding, £19 5s; Mr. Cosgrove, a bay gelding, £24; two harness horses, £30 15s; Mr. Joseph Slade, a bay harness horse, £21 5s, and a sociable, £42; Mr. Butchart, an American buggy, £40; Mr. M'Carty, a bay gelding, £35; Mr. Rudder, a black gelding, £16; Mr. Shortland, a brown gelding, £12; a bay gelding, £13; Mr. Phillis, a black mare, £15; Mr Mulholland, a roan colt, £15 10s; Mr. Whitehead, a bay gelding, £13; Mr. Wheeler, a pair of grey geldings, sociable, and harness, £100; Mr. Smith, a bay gelding, £16 5s; Dr. Fraser, a pair of bay geldings, £31; W. Vial and Son, a dogcart, £19; Mr. Parfitt, a sociable, £35; Mr. R. Travers, an open carriage, £180. Also, at the Bazaar, through the week, a number of light horses, from £5 to £16. At the Camperdown Yards I sold a lot of 14 light horses, varying from £1 5s to £15.—June 3.

KANGAROOING.—The Pastoral Times says:—Now that the dingo or native dog has been destroyed on most of the runs in Southern Riverina, which are mostly fenced in, the kangaroos are increasing in numbers and boldness, so hunting parties are often formed at Deniliquin for extinguishing, or keeping under, the tripod. There are some huge fellows of this stamp on most of the runs, and a good old man kangaroo is often a formidable foe to a single horseman; as for a man on foot, he would think twice ere he would throw down the gauntlet to such a foe. On Monday last there was a hunt at Mrs. M'Laurin's station, Morocco, near Deniliquin, when a number of kangaroos were killed; and one "old man," hard pressed, after having first jumped on the back of one of the horses with the view of pulling off the rider, took to a waterhole, dogs and men after him. The former kept at arms' length from the old fellow, but the dogs, were less cautious, as each ventured near him; he clutched one in his arms, holding the dog under water until half drowned; the imprisoned dog escaped, howling most piteously. However, dogs and men were too many for the brave old fellow, who was eventually clubbed and torn to death. In the destruction of the kangaroo, surely something should be made of their skins. It seems a great waste of the raw material to allow them to pass as rubbish, or rot away.

HOW TO PROCURE A SEWING-MACHINE EASILY.
Every Genuine Machine has the name of the firm, "Wheeler and Wilson, M'F'g and Co.," impressed on the cloth plate; and, in addition, the Trade Mark affixed to the bed-plate. As the great reputation of the WHEELER and WILSON has led to the manufacture of a very large number of imitation machines of an inferior quality, we ask the public to be exceedingly cautious that none of these spurious machines are sold to them for the GENUINE WHEELER and WILSON.
The WHEELER and WILSON SEWING-MACHINE has no heavy machinery to tire and weary the feet, and is therefore the MOST SUITABLE FOR FAMILIES.
THE WHEELER and WILSON has no cog-wheels to wear away and break, which renders it the most durable as well as the FASTEST AND BEST SEWING-MACHINE IN THE WORLD!
The great advantage offered by the TIME PAYMENT SYSTEM places the New Improved WHEELER and WILSON MACHINE within the reach of all.

WASBRECCAN COMBING RAMS.
SULLIVAN and SIMPSON beg to notify that the proprietors (Messrs. Shanahan and Jennings) of the above rams will be travelling their annual draft to their northern stations, from Deniliquin, in June next. To any persons requiring them on their line of route they can deliver on their way.
The fleeces at the present Exhibition carried away first and second prizes, and were also commended. They combine great weight and length of staple with good quality, and are specially noted for evenness. The rams are hardy, of good sound constitution, never having been pampered or otherwise exceptionally treated.
About 500 will be for SALE, and can be delivered in lots, either at Deniliquin or en route to the Darling Downs. Orders will be booked up to the 1st June.

PRIVATE SALE.—NEW ENGLAND DISTRICT.
G. N. GRIFFITHS has been instructed to SELL privately the following valuable properties, in the New England District:—
1. A SPLENDID SHEEP RUN, comprising an area of about 17,000 acres of the finest wool-growing country in the colony, admirably and permanently watered, and highly improved, together with 1100 acres of purchased LAND. This property is within about four miles of an improving township, affording facilities for easy transmission of wool or goods.
2. A VALUABLE PROPERTY, consisting of about 1089 acres of freehold land, very rich, and well adapted for agricultural purposes, and situated within about four miles of a rising township.
3. A WELL-KNOWN INN, situated in one of the New England townships, with five acres of LAND attached.
4. A COMMODIOUS NEWLY-BUILT STORE, with five acres of LAND attached. The inn and store are in close proximity, and could thus be worked together if necessary.
THESE PROPERTIES are for bona-fide sale; and, as they afford most eligible investments for capitalists or others seeking a home, an inspection is invited.
Further particulars on application to
G. N. GRIFFITHS, 271, George-street.

FOR SALE, quiet COW, 4 years old, expected to calve daily. Gerald Halligan, Marrickville.

FIRST-CLASS CATTLE STATIONS on the LACHLAN. For SALE PRIVATELY.
The undersigned have been instructed by the owner, W. H. Suttor, Esq., to OFFER PRIVATELY his extensive and very superior cattle stations on the Lachlan, consisting of BORAMBIL, having a frontage of five miles to each bank of the Lachlan, with an area of about 28 square miles on the north and 40 square miles on the south side.
WALLAROY and OUTER BORAMBIL, area 100 square miles, at the back of S. Borambil and Wallamundry runs, with about 5000 acres and a frontage to the Lachlan River and Bogandillon Lagoon.
These runs are of the best fattening description, fenced principally with wire, and admirably watered throughout to withstand the very driest season.
The stock consists of about 4500 head of cattle, mixed sexes, the whole of them being nearly PURE DURHAMS.
The improvements include a house of seven rooms, kitchen, store, men's and overseer's huts, &c., with large stockyard, erected on 320 acres of purchased land. There have also been secured on the frontages 660 acres of land, and out back there is a tank (760 yards excavation), with small stockyard and horse-paddock.
Also, the WILLANDRA RUNS, consisting of Willandra, area 40 square miles, and frontage to the Lachlan of 16 miles; Outer Willandra East, area 50 square miles, with Willandra Billabong running through the centre; Outer Willandra West, area 50 square miles, watered by the Willandra Billabong and Middle Creek; and Outer Willandra Block A, area 40 square miles, with frontage to the Willandra Billabong, the whole forming a compact block of first-class country (open plains intersected by belts of box and pine ridges), enclosed with a ring fence, and thoroughly watered throughout in all seasons.
The stock consists of about 4,000 head of cattle, mixed sexes and ages, almost PURE DURHAMS, no bulls having been among them for 25 years but the direct progeny of imported stock; and the herd is undeniably the best in the district, and second to none in the colony.
These runs are substantially fenced, and for 13 miles up the Willandra with wire, sheep-proof; the other improvements comprising a six-roomed cottage, with kitchen, store, large stock, horse, and milking yards.
With the before-mentioned runs will be sold the URUNAWAY RUNS, consisting of Urunaway, area 40 square miles, with a frontage to the Lachlan of eight miles; Salmagundi, area 80 square miles; and N.E. Willandra, area 100 square miles.
These runs adjoin the Willandra Runs, are watered by the Lachlan River, and Willandra Billabong, and are at present unstocked; but on Urunaway are a woolshed, boiling yard, and a six-roomed cottage, &c.
These stations form together the finest squatting properties ever offered for sale in the Lachlan district, and the stock is, without exception, equal to anything in the colonies, having been bred up for very many years with the greatest care by the present owner, the herds being now, in fact PURE SHORTHORNS exclusively, and there is ample room for at least double the number of cattle now on the runs, or an equivalent in sheep, for which the country is well adapted, the whole being in good working order, with all necessary plant, horses, stores, &c.
The runs are most favourably situated, commanding both the New South Wales and Victorian markets where the fat cattle for years past have realised the highest prices.
For further information apply to
JOHN GEORGE DOUGHARTY, Melbourne; or POWERS, RUTHERFORD, and CO., Melbourne, Sandhurst, and Ballarat.

STORE CATTLE.
T. S. CLIBBORN and CO. have for private SALE—
1050 Store Bullocks, 3 and 4 years
550 Store Cows, 2½ to 7 years.
Particulars at 246, Pitt-street.

PRIVATE SALE.
G. N. GRIFFITHS has been instructed by the executors of the late C. C. Macdonald, Esq., to offer for Private SALE the following PROPERTIES:—
CADARGA STATION, Burnett district, Queensland, consisting of three blocks of country, embracing a large area of undulating box and ironbark ridges, permanently watered throughout by the Cadarga and tributary creeks,
WITH THE FOLLOWING IMPROVEMENTS:—Good residence, with large garden, kitchen, store, overseer's cottage, stables, outbuildings, large stock-yard, large and small paddocks, &c., &c. Also, large substantial woolshed, wool-room, and screw press.
Cadarga has for some time been utilised as a cattle station; but in consequence of the recent disposal of the whole herd it will be sold without stock. It is estimated to carry fully 2000 cattle or an equivalent number of sheep.

STOCKYARD CREEK, situated in the unsettled district of the Darling Downs, adjoining Coondarra, on the north, embraces a large area of fine wool-growing, open, sound country, about 12 miles long by about 7 miles wide, which is permanently watered throughout its entire length by the Stockyard Creek.
THE IMPROVEMENTS on this run are shepherds' huts and sheep stations, and it would form either a station of itself, or could be worked in conjunction with the AUBURN or any of the Western Downs runs.
To be sold without stock. Estimated capabilities, 8000 sheep.
For further particulars apply to
G. N. GRIFFITHS, 271, George-street.

ORDER OF SALE.

CITY and SUBURBAN FREEHOLD PROPERTIES.
To be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, in the HALL UPSTAIRS of SYDNEY EXCHANGE, BRIDGE-STREET, on TUESDAY, 8th June, at 11 o'clock.

WELCOME HOME INN, corner of Elizabeth and Sarah Ann streets, containing 8 rooms, kitchen, bar, open shed, 3-stall stable, hayloft, and servant's room.

CONVENIENT and SUBSTANTIAL HOUSE, adjoining the above, containing 8 rooms, kitchen, bar, open shed, 3-stall stable, hayloft, and servant's room.

FOUR HOUSES, Sarah Ann-street, containing each 4 rooms and kitchen.
The above WELL-KNOWN CITY PROPERTIES are tenanted, and in thorough repair; and as they are situated in the centre of a large population, and adjacent to the SYDNEY RAILWAY TERMINUS, they must yearly increase in value.

BELLEVUE HOTEL, situated corner of Albion and Bellevue streets, ALBION ESTATE, containing 8 rooms; bar, superiorly fitted up with counter, shelving, beer engine, and spirit kegs; cellar, bath-room, kitchen, and washhouse.

THREE HOUSES, containing each front verandahs and balconies, 4 rooms, kitchen, and washhouse.
This property is NEWLY ERECTED, and most substantially built of brick on stone foundation, with slated roofs, and are fitted up with water, gas, and every convenience.

SUBSTANTIAL WELL-FINISHED DWELLING-HOUSE, Macquarie-street, ALBION ESTATE, containing 6 rooms, hall, and kitchen, verandah and balcony; newly built of brick on stone foundation, slated roof.

The ALBION ESTATE, having been only recently built upon, the buildings are all of modern construction, consequently when the streets are properly formed and metalled, this will be one of the most respectable and favourite parts of the city.

SUBSTANTIAL STONE-BUILT HOUSE, 4 rooms, corner of Crown and Rider lanes, off CROWN and OXFORD STREETS.

SHOP and DWELLING, PADDINGTON, known as KIDMAN'S BRANCH GROCERY ESTABLISHMENT, corner of SOUTH HEAD ROAD and WILLIAM-STREET, containing large shop, 30 x 16, 11 feet ceiling; cellar underneath, same size; 3 upstairs rooms, kitchen and servant's room; large shed, stable, &c.
Together with an Allotment of LAND adjoining, having a frontage to the SOUTH HEAD ROAD of 24 feet.
The POSITION of this PROPERTY is without doubt the best CORNER SITE in Paddington, and is admirably adapted for an hotel or any other business.
Terms liberal, at sale.

For Positive Sale

At the Land and Estate Auction Rooms, City Mart, on THURSDAY, 10th June.

TITLE unquestionable. Full particulars of which may be ascertained by applying at the office of W. BARKER, Esq., Solicitor, Hunter-street.

L. E. THRELKELD has received instructions to sell by auction, at the City Mart Land and Estate Sale Rooms, on THURSDAY, 10th June, at 11 o'clock,

All that valuable parcel of land, commencing at the angle formed by the road to Bettington Wharf, and the road leading to Moore's Wharf, and bounded thence on the south-east by the said last mentioned road 111 links to Rhodin's allotment, and thence by that allotment 77 links to a road 8 feet wide; thence on the south-west by that road, being a line bearing north 9 degrees east 155 links to the road to Bettington Wharf; and thence on the south by that road to the point of commencement 17 links.

On the above block of land are erected three substantial houses.

No. 1 having double frontage to Bettington-street and Moore Road, containing, on the ground floor, two convenient-sized rooms, and on the second floor two bedrooms, with yard and out-offices.

No. 2 a 4-roomed house and bakery, having frontage to Moore Road, with back entrance to a lane.

No. 3 also fronting Moore Road, with back entrance as above.

. The property (which was let at the time when rents were unusually low) is producing £2 12s per week, but will be greatly increased when the term expires at the end of the year.

☞ Cards of admission, and further particulars, may be ascertained at the office, City Mart.

Terms, liberal, at sale.

TOORAK.

That beautiful Waterside Villa Site, on the eastern beach (or private portion) of being the only available waterside property now obtainable on the Point Piper Estate, this side of Rose Bay.

The property comprises about 2½ acres, held under a lease of ninety-nine years' lease, and was selected and retained some sixteen years ago, as the most beautiful and convenient site for building purposes in this charming neighbourhood. The frontage to the beach is 150 feet, and to the New South Head Road about 350 feet, with a beautiful slope to the water; the depth from the road to the beach being about 474 feet on the eastern boundary, adjoining the property of the late A. Walker, Esq., and 434 on the western boundary adjoining the property of R. C. Want, Esq.

L. E. THRELKELD has received instructions to sell by auction, at the City Mart, on THURSDAY, the 10th June, at 11 o'clock,

The above truly beautiful and highly improved villa site, situate immediately under the mansion of Cranbrook, the property of the Hon. James White, M.L.C., formerly owned by the late Hon. Captain Towns.

☞ The auctioneer desires to point out that this is the only vacant piece of waterside property now to be got on the Sydney side of Point Piper, and it is essential to bear in mind that it is on the PRIVATE beach of Double Bay—not that of the village—and therefore is perfectly select, and the mansions now erected around it quite ensure its continued privacy, and that it will maintain its character as the most aristocratic portion of our suburbs.

The land has been thoroughly levelled, grassed, and planted with evergreen trees and shrubs; and some thousands of tons of loam, manure, and soil have been carted on it, at an expense of many hundred pounds, to prepare it for the erection of a first-class house.

The property will first be submitted in one lot, and failing a suitable offer, will be then subdivided as per plan in various villa sites, fronting a road which will be reserved from the South Head Road to the beach.

A belt of the original forest trees have been left close to the South Head Road in order to secure more privacy to the property.

Terms, liberal, at sale.

THE WILD WAVE.

The Favourite Clipper British-built BRIG, Registered Tonnage 190 56-100, carries about 300 tons on a draught of water not exceeding 11 feet 6 inches, and possessing the following qualifications:—

1. Thoroughly Substantially Built. Timbers of the best English Oak, with Pitch Pine Planking.
2. Splendid Weatherly Vessel, remarkably fast, having made one of the quickest passages from the Mauritius, invariably delivering her cargo with out a stain.
3. Carries a Large Cargo for her tonnage, on a light draft of water.
4. Shifts without Ballast, and requires only 40 tons for a voyage.
5. Is in perfect order, having recently had a large sum of money expended in coppering and refastening, and can be sent to sea at a minute's notice, without any additional expense.

L. E. THRELKELD has received instructions from the owner to sell by auction, at the City Mart, on THURSDAY, the 10th instant, at 11 o'clock,

The fine clipper British-built brig WILD WAVE, now in Newcastle, but will be brought up to Sydney during the week, for thorough inspection prior to day of sale, when intending purchasers will have an opportunity of examining her.

This favourite vessel is admirably adapted for the China trade, or for the intercolonial ports.

An inventory will be prepared and further particulars ascertained at the office of the Auctioneers.

Terms at sale.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

G. N. GRIFFITHS has received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, at a date to be fixed,

Mr. Darby M'Grath's magnificent property in the vicinity of Ipswich, Queensland. The area embraced within the property is about 14,900 acres, of the choicest land in this noted agricultural and grazing district, secured as follows:—

About 7900 acres, freehold
6000 acres, Act of 1868, six years paid up
1000 acres, Act of 1866, fully paid up, together with about 10,000, more or less, sheep, now depasturing on it; besides horses, cattle, plant, &c.

The improvements comprise capital homestead, about 4 miles from Ipswich railway station, with large house, woolshed, &c., &c. The property is carefully divided into about 12 paddocks, all well and substantially fenced, and is permanently watered by the Bremer and Warrill creeks and numerous lagoons and waterholes.

For plans and particulars apply to G. N. GRIFFITHS, 271, George-street; or W. F. DIGBY, Ipswich.

MURRUMBIDGEE DISTRICT.

For Positive Sale.

By order of the Executors of the late John Morrice, Esq.

The well-known Sheep Station,

MULINGANDRA,

situated on the Great Southern Road, about 20 miles this side of Albury, with the vendor's interest in the adjoining run, called MOUNTAIN CREEK.

The PURCHASED LAND, which is principally on the Mountain Creek Run, contains 3131 Acres, more or less, of rich soil, chiefly open forest, of which most of the timber has been killed. Attached to the freehold is a large area of pre-emptive Leases, which with 1560 Acres of conditional purchased land, will be included in the sale—the latter at a fixed price per acre.

THE IMPROVEMENTS are sufficient for working the property, and the SHEEP to be sold with it number 8200 HEAD, more or less.

Preliminary Notice.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from the EXECUTORS of the late JOHN MORRICE, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on an early date, of which due notice will be given.

The above valuable FREEHOLD ESTATE and pastoral property, full particulars of which will be published in a few days.

Plan on view at the Rooms.

Terms at sale.

WARREGO and WELLINGTON DISTRICTS, NEW SOUTH WALES.

Great Sale of magnificent Sheep Properties, in the above districts

ON THURSDAY, the 15th JULY next, including the following well-known Stations (in two lots), viz.:—

LOT 1. JANDRA,

situated in the Warrego district, on the River Darling, a few miles below Bourke, and lying on the Irrarra River or principal branch of the Warrego.

These Stations will be sold in one lot, with 43,000 SHEEP, more or less.

LOT 2. BULDIRUDGERA, situated in the Wellington district, between the towns of WELLINGTON and FORBES, with 30,000 SHEEP (more or less).

. Stores, Working Plant, and belongings of each station to be taken by valuation in the usual way by arbitration.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from the proprietor, WILLIAM FORLONGE, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on THURSDAY, the 15th July next, at 11 o'clock,

The above first-class pastoral properties.

LOT 1. JANDRA.

This noted property is situated on the Darling River, to which it has a frontage of about 18 miles, and is composed of the contiguous blocks or runs known as

Jandra
Yanda
Manwanga
Back Manwanga
Back Jandra, and Maroona,

which, together, are estimated to contain

330 SQUARE MILES

of the richest class of pasturage, principally saltbush plains, abounding in every known description of fattening herbage, with carrots, parsnips, and all other sorts of wild vegetables.

The water supply is ample, for, in addition to the long frontage to the Darling, there are several tanks on the back parts of the run, excavated out of the clay pan soil peculiar to the Darling District.

THE IMPROVEMENTS, principally erected on 100 acres of purchased land, comprise:—Cottage of 5 rooms, kitchen; store, stock and milking yards. The woolshed of sawn slabs has floor for twenty-five shearers, and is fitted with a good screw-press; there are also good horse paddocks, &c.

IRRARRA.—This run has hitherto been worked in conjunction with "Jandra," from which it is distant about fifty miles in a northerly direction. It consists of five large blocks of country, viz.:—

Windra, Mocobahunga No. 1
Mocobahunga No. 2, Mocobahunga No. 3, and Irrarra Back No 4,

all adjoining each other, having a frontage of about twenty miles to the Irrarra River, and estimated to contain of choice fattening country, unsurpassed in the Warrego district. The water supply of the Irrarra is supplemented by two dams, and during the last trying summer upwards of 20,000 sheep were watered on this property.

THE IMPROVEMENTS on this country are amply sufficient for working it in connection with the Jandra station.

With these properties will be sold 43,000 SHEEP, more or less.

. Attention is drawn to the fact that the wool of the above flocks was last season shorn at Jandra, and at once shipped per Darling River steamer, and within ten days of starting was safely delivered in Melbourne at a cost of £6 10s per ton carriage. The bugbear of long and expensive carriage is thus entirely done away with.

LOT 2. BULDIRUDGERA.

This extensive property includes the blocks Buldirudgera, Billabong, Booral, and Ten Mile Creek, and is estimated to contain of sound grazing country, principally box ridges and open forest, while on that part of the run tending towards the Bogan River the country opens into small plains, well grassed and timbered with myall and yarreen, and abundantly covered with dwarf salt-bush, and other saline herbage. As a whole, the run is admirably adapted for breeding and wool-growing purposes, the Bogan country being also equal to fatten a large number of wether flocks. The Billabong portion of Buldirudgera lies about 29 miles from Forbes, while the Little River portion extends to within about 30 miles of Wellington, and the whole is throughout well watered by the Little River, Coobung, Bunbury, Burrangong, Booral, Ten-mile, and other creeks, nearly all of which are permanent, the waters of the Booral and Ten-mile Creeks being conserved by substantial dams erected at considerable cost. On part of the run is the Parkes township and proclaimed gold-field, the latter so far protecting that part of the run from free-selectors.

THE IMPROVEMENTS comprise—Cottage of 5 rooms, kitchen, store, stable, woolshed, drafting yards, cultivation and horse paddocks, and other conveniences for working the property. The FENCING is most substantial, and encloses 6 large sheep paddocks, capable of carrying 40,000 sheep, being constructed of split posts, and 5 wires, with top rail for both outside and dividing lines. The principal part of this fencing has been recently erected at great cost. The unfenced area of the run is quite equal to 50,000 additional sheep.

With this property will be sold 30,000 SHEEP, more or less.

. Full particulars of the above flocks will be published in a few days, but it may be here mentioned that the respective purchasers of the above properties will on taking possession find the sheep nearly fully fleeced and ready for the shears—the last year's clip having been taken off in September and October.

Special attention is directed to the sale of the above important stations, as they are now in the market for bona-fide sale, the proprietor having determined to direct his energies to the management of his properties lying nearer to Sydney. A close examination of both country and stock is particularly invited, and gentlemen desirous of inspecting will meet with every assistance for so doing, on application to the superintendents in charge.

Terms liberal.

MILSON'S POINT, NORTH SHORE.

VERY DESIRABLE FAMILY COTTAGE RESIDENCE, fronting the MILSON'S POINT ROAD, near the STEAMERS' WHARF, and adjoining the RESIDENCE of Mr. DIND.

TITLE UNQUESTIONABLE—Messrs. Stephen and Stephen, solicitors, Pitt-street.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from J. J. SLADE, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 11th June, at 11 o'clock,

ALL THAT BLOCK OF LAND having 70 FEET frontage to the EAST SIDE of MILSON'S POINT ROAD, with a depth of 172 FEET, extending to a lane 20 FEET wide at the rear, upon which is a SUBSTANTIALLY ERECTED STONE COTTAGE RESIDENCE, with verandah in front, and containing wide hall and five rooms, with detached weatherboard kitchen, servant's room, store, and wash-house, with never-failing well of GOOD SPRING WATER, &c.

The whole of the land is securely enclosed, the cottage is built back about 100 feet from the street, and the land in front is planted with choice fruit trees of various descriptions, ornamental trees, and rare flowering shrubs. At the rear is also a garden, large yard, &c.

☞ This is a really desirable marine RESIDENCE for a small family. It is most favourably situated, only a few yards from the steamers' wharf, in an elevated position on the North Shore, and commands a most charming panoramic view of the harbour, the city, and the surrounding picturesque scenery.

CARDS to view may be obtained at the Rooms, Pitt-street.

Terms at sale.

SHEPHERD'S DARLING NURSERY, NEWTOWN ROAD.

FOUR TWO-STORY DWELLING-HOUSES, ROSE-STREET, at the Corner of CALDER LANE, south of IVY-STREET, known as the property of Mr. JAMES HARNETT.

TITLE UNQUESTIONABLE.

Messrs. Pigott and Trickett, solicitors, King-street.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 11th June, at 11 o'clock,

ALL THAT block of land, being lot 15 of block 1 of the DARLING NURSERY ESTATE, having 54 FEET frontage to ROSE-STREET with a depth of 90 FEET, extending to a lane at the rear, upon which are erected FOUR TWO-STORY brick dwelling-houses with balconies and verandahs in front. One contains 5 rooms and kitchen, the three others each 2 rooms and kitchen, with good yards, water laid on, &c., at the rear.

Rental £2 per week or £104 per annum.

☞ A good letting property, occupying a favourable position in the highly improved and popular suburb of DARLINGTON, and only a few yards off the MAIN NEWTOWN ROAD.

Plan at the Rooms—Terms at sale.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

Working horses, stores, and all other belongings on the Station to be taken by valuation in the usual way.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on an early date, of which due notice will be given.

The above first-class cattle property, full particulars of which, and terms of sale, will be published in a few days.

DARLING DOWNS, QUEENSLAND.

WARRA WARRA STATION. 30,000 SHEEP.

G. F. WANT has received instructions from the proprietors to sell by auction, in order to close partnership accounts, on WEDNESDAY, 23rd June 1875, (if not previously disposed of), at 11 o'clock, at the Hall of Commerce, The Exchange, Sydney,

The well-known station,

WARRA WARRA,

situated on the Darling Downs proper, adjoining the celebrated Jimbour Run, and containing three (3) blocks of country as undermentioned—

	Available Area.	Rent.
WARRA WARRA	.. 79 square miles ..	£161 15 0
BRAEMAR FOREST	.. 35 " " ..	38 10 0
KOGAN CREEK	.. 47 " " ..	51 14 0
Total ..	.. 161 " " ..	£251 19 0

Also about

15,000 ACRES OF PURCHASED LAND, principally black soil plains. TITLE under the REAL PROPERTY ACT. This land is the pick of the station, and is subdivided into convenient paddocks.

The purchaser is entitled to a PRE-EMPTIVE of 2560 ACRES on each block.

With the above will also be sold

30,000 SHEEP, more or less.

THESE SHEEP are large-framed and well-woolled, and were bred on the station.

THE BREEDING EWES number between 10,000 and 11,000, and will commence lambing about the end of July next.

The GT over Warra Warra brand commands a high price in the English market.

The WOOLSHED, WASHPOOL, FENCING, &c., are all of the best description. The HOMESTEAD is commodious and well-built, situated on the bank of a magnificent and never-failing lagoon, surrounded by a beautiful garden and fruitful orchard, and is within 30 miles of the Dalby Railway Terminus.

TERMS:—One-half cash, balance by equal bills at 1, 2, and 3 years, secured on the property, bearing 7 per cent. interest.

For further particulars, apply to G. F. WANT, 273 George-street, Sydney; or to G. F. WANT and CO. Queen-street, Brisbane.

LEICHHARDT DISTRICT, QUEENSLAND.

FOR POSITIVE SALE, THE OXFORD DOWNS STATION, with 26,000 SHEEP.

TERMS—One-third cash; balance at 1, 2, and 3 years, in equal amounts, with bank interest added, secured by mortgage.

BREWSTER and TREBECK have received instructions to sell by auction, at their Rooms, Squatters' Exchange, George-street, Sydney, on THURSDAY, the 10th day of JUNE, at 11 o'clock,

The well-known property, called

OXFORD DOWNS,

consisting of ten blocks of country, as follows:—

Homechester	Killiney
Toolooloah	Leixlip
Oxdowns	Nase
Saltbushton	Warnbrook
Yatton	Bolero.

These blocks comprise an immense extent of sound country, thickly covered with the best description of fattening grasses and herbage, and ABUNDANTLY AND PERMANENTLY WATERED IN EVERY PORTION by Cooper's, Funnel, Denison, Sandy, Nebo, and numerous other important tributaries of the Connor and Isaacs Rivers.

With OXFORD DOWNS will be sold 26,000 SHEEP, more or less.

The high prices obtained in London for the wool from these flocks is the best guarantee that the greatest care and judgment have been used in bringing the sheep to their present state of excellence.

THE IMPROVEMENTS consist of a comfortable residence, overseer's quarters, WOOLSHED, fitted with a rack and pinion press, a compact WASHPOOL, with hot water tanks and other appliances for getting up the wool in the highest condition, horse paddocks, &c., &c.

☞ Intending purchasers are invited to inspect this very fine property. The country is very richly grassed, and independently of its present value as a sheep station, would, without doubt, make one of the finest cattle properties in Australia. The sheep are noted for their high quality, having been nearly all bred from the celebrated Jondaryan flocks, Darling Downs. The large extent of superior country, the excellence of the sheep, and easy terms of purchase, are well worth the consideration of capitalists in search of a profitable pastoral investment.

For further particulars apply at the Rooms.

No. 5 Battery at 3 p.m.

Inspection Returns, with the names entered alphabetically, by ranks and otherwise, duly filled in, to be presented on parade.

Attention is drawn to Brigade Orders of the 23rd and 30th December last.

The books of these Batteries, referred to in Brigade Order of the 23rd December, 1874, to be sent to the Brigade Office for inspection by 9.30 a.m. on MONDAY, the 7th June.

Attention is drawn to the following foot-note to form B, amended regulations, published in Brigade Order No. 150 of the 9th September, 1874, regarding absence from annual inspection by reason of sickness or leave, viz.:—

"If absent through sickness, the same to be certified by a duly qualified medical gentleman within one week after the parade. If absent with leave, the same must be recorded in the Battery Order Book prior to inspection, and a copy of such order, duly verified, attached to the inspection return."

And excuses will not be entertained for the non-fulfilment of the conditions therein specified, and under which such absence is alone authorised.

There being now only one inspection during the year, it will be necessary for every member to attend, with the exceptions above alluded to, to qualify for efficiency.

By command.
